Girard Gains Approval For His Wedding

GI Charged With Shooting Woman To Marry Friday

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (U.S. Army today granted Specialist William Girard permission to marry his Japanese fiancée, the young soldier tentatively set Friday as the date for the wedding.

Final approval was granted by 1st Cavalry Division Headquarters, said Maj. Stanley Levin, legal adviser to the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier.

"We're tentatively setting the ceremony for 3 o'clock Friday," Levin said. "Girard is quite happy about it."

Girard and Miss Haru (Candy) Sneyama will wed in the white chapel at Camp Whittington, 40 miles north of Tokyo, where Girard is under Army restriction.

Girard planned to marry Candy in March before he became the center of an international controversy over foreign criminal trials of U.S. servicemen.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected to rule this month whether the Army can hand Girard over for Japanese trial for the Jan. 30 fatal shooting of a woman scrap metal collector on a U.S. firing range.

The marriage has yet to be cleared by Japanese officials. American servicemen marrying in Japan are required to register the marriage with Japanese town officials and then have the papers witnessed by the U.S. consul.

A Methodist Army chaplain, Maj. Harry C. Rickard of Winchester, Va., said earlier he would perform the religious ceremony if the Army approved of the marriage.

Test Site Guards Set Strike Vote

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (U.S. strike vote is scheduled to be taken either tonight or tomorrow night by the 125 civilian guards at this nuclear proving ground.

A union spokesman said, however, that no "drastic action" will be taken for 15 days if a strike is authorized. This was interpreted to mean the guards would continue to work during that period.

The men, members of the Independent Guard Assn. of Nevada, have been negotiating with Federal Services, Inc., on a new contract since January.

Mother Of Billy Graham Joins Him In N. Y. Crusade

NEW YORK (U.S. Evangelist Billy Graham's mother joined him on the platform at Madison Square Garden last night to tell of the virtues and blessings of a Christian home.

They were heard by an audience announced as 19,200, including 700 standees. An estimated 5,000 gathered outside, unable to be admitted to the arena because of building regulations. A spokesman said it was the largest turnout during the 46 days of Graham's New York crusade.

Graham's mother, Mrs. Anne Morrow Graham, a little woman in her 60s, urged that parents rear their children in the Christian faith and the Bible and take them to church and Sunday school. She said she and her husband, William Frank Graham Sr., a North Carolina dairy farmer, did their best to instill a feeling for God in their children.

Ike Has Anniversary

Biggest U. S. Battle Began 94 Years Ago

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U.S. President and Mrs. Eisenhower are observing their 41st wedding anniversary today at their country home on the edge of this quiet town.

It's a home which nestles in peaceful green fields where in the early hours 94 years ago today the forces of Meade and Lee North against South — first clashed in this tide-turning Civil War battle of Gettysburg.

Last night the President and the First Lady went to the Gettysburg High School auditorium for a ceremony commemorating the men of the "Blue and the Grey" who died in that agonizing three-day battle.

There they heard Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, tell a capacity audience of about 1,500 that the hope for secure peace "burns as warmly in our hearts today" as it did in 1863.

Taylor said that in this nuclear age, the possibility of a general atomic war is lessening. But he added local limited aggression by Communist forces poses "an increasingly serious threat to world peace."

After Taylor's speech, the President and his wife stood at their front row seats and smiled broadly when the master of ceremonies, William G. Weaver, told the crowd: "I think it fitting to give the bride and groom of 41 years a big hand at this time."

The audience cut loose with a warm ovation for the Eisenhowers.

For the President and the First Lady today is a day of personal memories of their marriage in Denver in 1916, just a year after Eisenhower's graduation from West Point as a second lieutenant.

British Atomic Leak Reported, Secrets Copied

LONDON (U.S. Intelligence experts were reported today to be investigating a suspected leakage of Britain's naval atomic secrets to a foreign spy.

The News Chronicle said the probe centered on Bath, where Admiralty technical experts work with secret designs for atomic-powered submarines and other war vessels.

An unnamed source was quoted as saying the leak is "a major disclosure against national security." Top secret documents and blueprints were reported copied without authority — probably by photographing them.

Dr. Eisenhower Takes Vacation

Dr. Eisenhower has kept only limited office hours since being discharged from Johns Hopkins Hospital two weeks ago.

Bonn Backs Arms Slash Check Plan

West Reich Leader Favors Inspection To 'Ease Tensions'

DORTMUND, Germany (U.S. Denying that his government is obstructing a big-power disarmament agreement, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer gave unqualified endorsement yesterday to U.S. Russian inspection of West Germany's defenses.

Adenauer spelled out his stand in an address to 30,000 persons here at the opening of his Christian Democratic party's campaign for the September general elections.

Denies Obstruction

The Chancellor rejected suggestions his government had been hindering conclusion of a limited, "first-step" agreement at the London conference of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

"I declare expressly that we are ready to give every possible support to controlled disarmament in the fields of atomic and conventional weapons," he said. "We are prepared," he added, "to agree to the inspection of German territory."

Some sources have suggested that Adenauer's regime had been hindering conclusion of an arms pact for fear an inspection zone across Europe might harden the line dividing Germany.

"We... have not been obstructive on the question of an inspection zone of European territories," he said.

He said that during his visit to Washington in May, he had given complete approval when Secretary of State Dulles outlined details of the American disarmament proposals now being disclosed by stages.

U.S. arms expert Harold F. Slesser briefed the NATO Allies in Paris over the weekend on the latest phase of the U.S. proposals in advance of presentation to the Soviet Union.

NATO sources said a new formula is being worked out to quiet any German fears about permanent division of the country. Under this plan, the entire aerial inspection area in both Russia and the West would be treated as one entity with no line bisecting Germany.

Sees Tensions Abolished

In backing disarmament, Adenauer said, his government assumed that "the causes of various tensions will be abolished."

"This especially applies to the reunification of Germany — on which we have binding promises from our partners, especially the United States," he said.

Adenauer said he had proposed to the United States that as soon as the London disarmament talks seem to be on an even keel, a Big Four conference be called to consider German reunification.

Jordan Given Grant By U. S.

WASHINGTON (U.S. Jordan, hard-pressed financially since its regular subsidy from Britain was ended last year, has been granted another 20 million dollars in U.S. economic aid.

The State Department last night announced a 10 million dollar grant aimed at bolstering the Middle Eastern kingdom's financial condition. A 10 million dollar grant for military equipment was made Saturday.

The two new grants bring total aid to Jordan under the administration's policy of supporting anti-Communist Middle Eastern nations to 30 million dollars.

Batista Rally In Cuba Gets No 'Converts'

By LARRY ALLEN

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (U.S. — A rally staged by President Fulgencio Batista's supporters drew a poor house and won no converts in this capital of resistance to the government.

Most local residents stayed home, behind locked doors. Some of the paid demonstrators sat on their hands at the open-air rally yesterday.

Heavily armed troops, police, coast guardsmen and private armies of trigger-happy gun slingers hired by Cuban politicians swarmed through the city — but the local sympathizers of rebel leader Fidel Castro kept out of their way.

Elsewhere, however, there were outbreaks of violence — some of it apparently in reprisal for what the antigovernment groups considered the "provocation" of the Santiago rally.

Bombs exploded in Havana and other cities. Three tobacco warehouses were burned at Pinar del Rio. A band of youths in Camaguey forced a radio announcer at pistol point to read antigovernment proclamations.

A battle between Castro's rebels and government troops was reported 23 miles northwest of Santiago. A communiqué put out by army headquarters in Havana made no mention of casualties.

TOKYO (U.S. — Adm. Felix B. Stump extended his Pacific military command today to include all U.S. forces in the Far East, and declared: "We have the forces now to contain an attack that occurs anywhere in the world."

The command change put Army, Air Force and Navy forces in both the Asian and Pacific theaters under Stump's headquarters at Pearl Harbor. It gave the Navy supreme command in the Far East for the first time since early in World War II.

Fourteen fishermen spent a terror-filled night in trees.

The plant employs about 12,000.

Court To Rule On Hoffa Plea For Mistrial

WASHINGTON (U.S. — The defense moved today for a mistrial in labor leader James Hoffa's bribery-conspiracy trial, contending a prosecution witness had brought in "racial views" in a manner to prejudice the jury. There are eight Negroes on the jury.

U.S. Dist. Judge Burton S. Matthews said she would rule on the motion later in the day and meanwhile ordered the trial continued.

Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, and Hyman L. Fischbach, Miami attorney, are charged with "planting" John C. Cheasty, a Brooklyn lawyer, investigator, on the Senate Select Committee to feed Hoffa the committee's inside information.

Cheasty, the prosecution's star witness in the trial, testified he told the committee and the FBI of the plot.

Edward B. Williams, Hoffa's attorney, and Daniel B. Maher, counsel for Fischbach, joined in the motion for a mistrial.

They cited testimony given Friday by Cheasty on cross-examination. At that time, he was asked by Williams whether he used a fictitious name when employed in Florida last year to, as Williams put it, investigate the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People.

The defense attorneys argued today that Cheasty's answer constituted prejudice for the biracial jury.

Long Claims Deaths Will Exceed 400

Thousands Homeless As Disease Menace In Disaster Mounts

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Lake Charles, La. (U.S. — Louisiana today prepared mass burial for the nameless among its estimated 350 hurricane victims.

Thousands of survivors of Thursday's great storm still clogged makeshift refugee centers here and in nearby towns. From Washington came a Red Cross estimate of 47,000 still homeless in southwestern Louisiana and southeastern Texas.

The latest estimate of the death toll came yesterday from Larry Stephenson, local director of civil defense. He based it on a widely accepted premise that uncounted dead still were screened from searchers by storm debris and the slowly receding tidal waters of the now serene Gulf of Mexico.

More Bodies Spotted

About 240 bodies have been recovered and searchers report almost constantly that more have been spotted.

Gov. Earl Long inspected the disaster area yesterday and predicted, "The actual count of dead and missing will go over 400." He wouldn't guess how long it would take to rebuild an area that suffered a loss running into uncalculated millions of dollars.

"Nobody knows but the Lord," he said.

A growing threat of pestilence spurred the mass burial of unidentified bodies. Last night's humid air in temporary morgues here evoked the soft chant of spirituals as many Negroes sought a final moment with their dead.

"Oh Lord, oh goodness gracious, oh Lord," one woman cried.

Another moaned just before collapsing: "Oh Lord, there's so many of them."

As far as 80 miles east of the storm center in Louisiana's southwestern tip, typhoid shots ran low. Mosquitoes thrived in the brackish waters swollen by Hurricane Audrey and her deadly escort, a 20-foot tidal wave from the Gulf of Mexico.

Tens of thousands of cattle floated in withering heat. President Eisenhower's special representative on the scene, Val Peterson, former head of the nation's civil defense, told the chief executive yesterday by telephone: "There is a very great health problem, because of the bodies of both human beings and animals. All of the health agencies are working very hard."

Pastor Believed Drowned 'Returns From The Dead'

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—The rector of the Episcopal church here, believed drowned in an Idaho lake April 25, returned to his home and parish late last night.

The Rev. Andrew Daughters, 37, returned from the dead while attending a communion service yesterday morning in Grace Episcopal Cathedral in San Francisco. He was dressed as a workman and his hands were calloused.

The first indication of returning memory came as he read the parish bulletin. He asked a fellow worshipper if the date, "June 30," was correct. When informed it was, he sought help from Canon Richard Byfield, the clergyman who had conducted the service.

Talking with Canon Byfield, the Rev. Mr. Daughters regained knowledge of his identity. He held a fearful telephone reunion with his wife. He was given the clothing of an Episcopal clergyman. With his workman's clothes in a paper bag, he flew from San Francisco to Portland, Ore., and then to Yakima, Wash.

At Yakima, he was met by his wife and the Rev. Charles May, the Episcopal rector at Kennewick, Wash., and a friend of the Daughters.

The three then drove to Pasco, arriving late last night. Daughters' four sons, aged 3 to 13 years, greeted him.

Search for Daughters started after his boat was found abandoned and damaged on Lake Coeur d'Alene. A week later the search was given up and Daughters was listed as "presumably drowned." A memorial fund for the aid of his children had been started.

The parish had chosen a new rector and had called the Rev. Lester Kinsolving, vicar of St.

The 10 members of the Italian Alpine Club fell from the summit of 14,000-foot Piz Palu Saturday when a ridge of snow gave way beneath them. Two women were among those killed.

The sole survivor was Sergio Bassani, who was hospitalized with bruises and possible internal injuries. Alpine guides believed he became wrapped in soft snow during his fall and that this lessened his impact on the sharply inclined slope.

Tito Claims His Views Similar To China Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia says his views on communism are "to a great extent identical" with those of Red China's boss Mao Tse-tung.

Tito also sees "active coexistence" as the key to peace between the West and the Communist countries.

The stocky 65-year-old Yugoslav leader was seen and heard throughout the United States yesterday in a TV interview, with Edward R. Murrow. The one-hour interview, recently filmed in Yugoslavia, was broadcast over the CBS TV and radio networks.

Asked about Mao's recent speech declaring there is no single path to communism and that "contradictions" can exist in a Communist society, Tito commented: "... I'm pleased to be able to say that our views do not contradict with the views outlined by Mao Tse-tung, but on the contrary they are to a great extent identical. I think that Mao Tse-tung in this speech of his has to a certain extent calmed down the fear which has existed in the West from communism."

Tito then was asked if he thought communism was going to take on "more of a divergent nationalist character."

"It is quite true," the President replied, "that development towards socialism and communism can't go along one path in the whole world, but it would be wrong to call that national communism. The development in different countries depends upon special conditions, historic and others."

This belief that communism cannot develop in the same way in all countries led Tito to break with Stalin in 1948 and set up his own independent brand of communism.

Tito and Mao's views on the development of communism are not in line with those held by Russian leaders.

The interview was filmed at Tito's villa on Vanga, one of the Brioni Islands in the Adriatic Sea. His handsome wife appeared with him and spoke of her role as a partisan fighter in World War II. Both spoke in Serbo-Croatian for the most part. An interpreter translated for the American audience. Occasionally, the couple spoke a few words of English, which they understand.

Commenting on how best to keep peace in the world, Tito said: "I think that the best solution is coexistence. Of course, not a passive coexistence just to live one beside the other, but an active coexistence in which we should strive to solve peacefully by way of negotiation and agreement all the problems which could arise."

Long Claims

(Continued from Page 1) son's first hurricane gave way to a grim quest for the dead. State Route 14 to the south was finally opened from here. At dawn yesterday a caravan of trucks and Army earth-moving equipment roared along 60 desolate miles of storm-stricken territory.

Poisonous snakes and emboldened rats held sway over the bare foundations of homes that once echoed to the laughter and day-to-day bustle of rural Louisianans.

Cameron, a little fishing village that was the focal point of the storm damage, was the target of the initial cleanup. Once its main street was bulldozed clear for traffic, mop-up squads turned to the rubble of its modest property. Only its courthouse was left intact by the storm.

In Lake Charles, where refugee handling was concentrated, a renewed poignancy drained a population already dazed by shock. Local Protestant and Roman Catholic churches were packed yesterday as refugees joined townsfolk in thanksgiving for the living and honoring the dead.

Army dump trucks later rumbled north from Cameron bearing newly recovered victims of the storm to improvised morgues here. Battered survivors met the procession to seek loved ones amid the silent cargo.

Typical of these was M. H. Badon, who fled for his life from Cameron. Now he came seeking two little nieces, girls 6 and 4 years old. One, Glory Jean, he identified by her hair and dress. Then he moved on, only to pause before a second motionless little form and exclaim: "I think that's Dina. I'll go back and get her little brother. . . He'll know."

Flood Perils Kansas Town

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Saline River spilled over its banks into the north central Kansas village of Tescott this morning, and the town's 412 residents prepared to evacuate.

The National Guard, equipped with boats, moved into Tescott to help with any rescue work.

At Kansas City, the U.S. Weather Bureau said "conditions currently aren't critical but water is entering homes."

Two inches of rain last night sent the Saline to a stage of 29 feet, just 1.15 feet short of the crest during Kansas' disastrous 1951 flood.

Lebanon Regime Wins In Ballot

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon's pro-Western government today claimed firm control of the new Parliament — 50 to 66 seats — following the fourth and final Sunday of voting.

One big government winner was Foreign Minister Charles Malik, many times Lebanon's representative at the United Nations. He swamped his Communist-backed opponent 10,602-276.

Fight Slated By Nickerson On Missiles

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., under fire and reprimand for misuse of secret defense data, says he will "continue the fight within the armed forces" in behalf of the Army's missile program.

The 41-year-old officer, who pleaded guilty before a court-martial board on 15 counts of leaking secret information, said last night "I will speak my opinions wherever I can."

He also said he has no intention of resigning his Army commission.

Nickerson was fined $1,500, officially reprimanded and suspended from rank for a year by the 10-man board Saturday at the end of a five-day trial.

The sentence is subject to review by 3rd Army, headquarters in Atlanta, the Department of the Army and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

In a telephone interview from his residence at nearby Huntsville Arsenal, Nickerson said the sentence will be appealed.

"We'll wait to see what comes out of 3rd Army," he said, "then we'll exhaust all legal remedies as far as appeal is concerned."

California Father Held After Heiress, 12, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nancy Balkely, 12, heiress to a $155,000 bequest, died yesterday. Her father said he had shoved her in an argument.

The father, Robert O. Balkely, 40-year-old unemployed iceman, said.

But the family doctor was on another case and Balkely then called an emergency hospital. When its ambulance arrived the girl was dead.

Coroner Henry Turkel, who ordered an immediate autopsy, said the girl's arms and legs and body bore many bruises, both new and old. There was an ugly wound on one cheek which could have been fatal, he said.

"She bruises easy," her mother Irma said.

Balkely told police he shoved the girl after the family returned from Mass this morning and he

America At Its Bountiful Best!

You are looking, as you surely know, at a magnificent motor car—beautiful, luxurious, substantial and inspiring.

But you are also looking at tangible proof of the bountiful land that is America!

Certainly, for instance, no one could behold a Cadillac without gaining new respect for our freedom to create and to produce. For where but from America could there come a motor car so rare in beauty or so marvelous in quality and luxury?

Surely, no one could take the wheel of a Cadillac without appreciating our nation's industrial skill and progress. For where but from America could there come a motor car so fine in performance?

And most assuredly, no one could hear the practical facts about Cadillac without marveling at our nation's well-being. For where but in America could so prized a personal possession be brought within the economic range of so many?

We think it appropriate, therefore, to pay tribute to these precious American virtues—and to express our own gratitude at having been privileged to put them to such extraordinary use.

And we should also like to take this opportunity of personally inviting all America to see and inspect its "ambassador at large."

You will find that the 1957 Cadillac, with its luxurious Fleetwood coachcrafting, is the finest "Standard of the World" ever created. And you will also find that this is the perfect moment, from the standpoint of both delivery and economy, to make the move to Cadillac.

PSC Faces Protests

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (A)—More than 430 protests were slacked before the Public Service Commission today when it opened hearing of Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.'s request for higher rates.

Cities and towns, individuals and civic groups, unions and chambers of commerce all have written to the PSC objecting to the proposed increase in telephone bills.

The C&P estimated that the higher rates would bring in an additional $3,987,000 in gross annual revenue from C&P's 265,000 customers in West Virginia.

The company said the charges would mean about 17 per cent higher bills for its customers, as well as increases in person-to-person rates and an additional charge for collect calls.

C&P contends that after taxes it would net $1,830,000. The company said present rates "are se-

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Big Government

PRESIDENT Eisenhower is a consistent opponent of excessive federal centralization of power, and has tried from the outset of his administration to pass some of the burdens of government back to the 48 states. At the recent conference of governors in Williamsburg, Va., the President broached this subject as firmly and fully as he ever has. So far, unhappily for him, he has not drawn the sort of eager response he expected.

MR. EISENHOWER operates in this field on what is really a double premise. He believes big government is bad. But he also believes that Americans today demand performance by government of a great many welfare and other functions, such as highway and school construction. As he sees it, then, the federal government cannot grow smaller simply by lopping off tasks it performs today and letting them go by the board. Government at other, lower levels must assume the abandoned load. So he appeals anew to the states to assist him in working out a specific plan for turning back certain powers and programs taken over by Washington in the past two and a half decades.

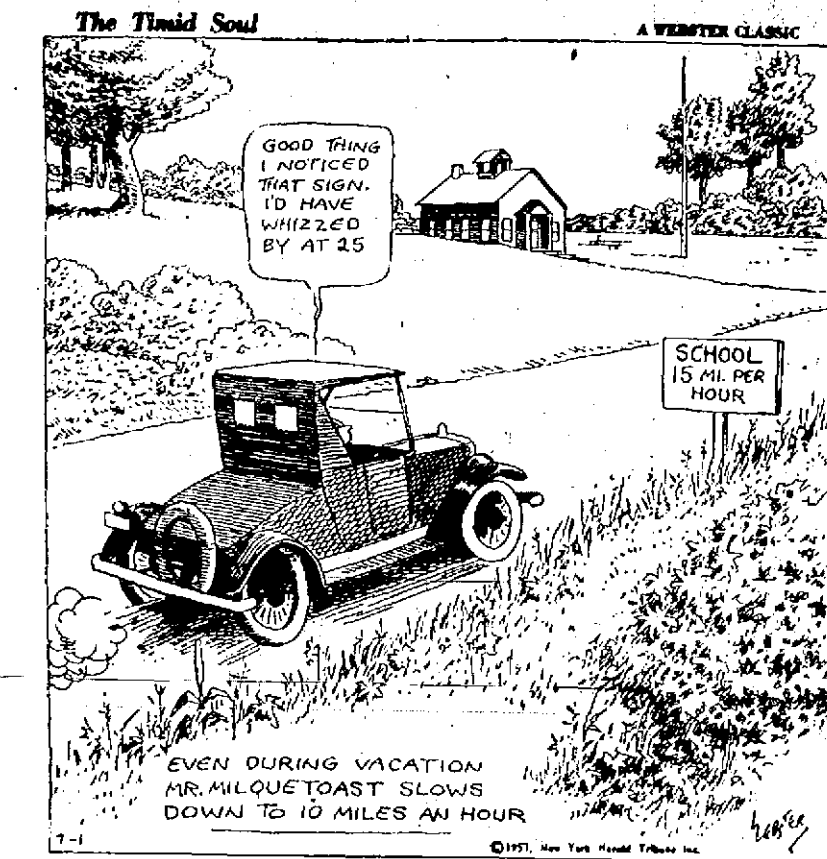

IN ACCORD WITH his view that it is proper for the states to exercise both initiative and responsibility in these matters, the President wants the governors to name the fields of endeavor they feel the states could best re-enter. And he would leave to them the additional assignment of suggesting adjustments in the federal-state tax structure which would enable the states to bear a heavier part of the burden. Over the years there has been a great deal of talk about the dangers of over-centralization, of a monopoly by Washington. Mr. Eisenhower here proposes, constructively, a practical way to combat those perils. It is a challenge flung vigorously. If it is not picked up, then those at all levels who want federal government reduced in size have the task of showing what other way it can be done that will satisfy the American people.

Ike And Stassen

THERE IS ONE rather unhappy aspect to our effort in the disarmament talks in London. The American people quite evidently have tremendous confidence in President Eisenhower as a keeper and promoter of the peace. They seem predisposed to support almost any venture he undertakes in this field. And though most Americans do not appear too excited by the prospect of success or perhaps the wisdom of the London talks, undoubtedly they would give our effort the benefit of the doubt if the President himself were closely identified with the negotiations. It is quite something else to have them in the hands of Harold Stassen. An NEA check of top editors' views in strategic sectors of the country disclosed that people feel a general lack of confidence in Stassen at London. As far as can be judged, this is an ingrained reaction to his mercurial behavior in the political arena. This lack of confidence puts a curious reverse twist on an effort that, in the light of Mr. Eisenhower's standing, ought to command the very fullest backing.

Another Link

IN ALL THE STIR over whether the United States would be able to cling to its big strategic air bases in the Middle East, it has been largely forgotten that important American installations have been under construction in Spain. Jim Lucas, Scripps-Howard military correspondent, reports from Madrid that the United States is now almost ready to begin operations from these new bases on a limited footing. He suggests that if we are ever compelled to send our big bombers loaded with nuclear explosives against the Soviet Union, they will most likely take off from our Spanish bases. He details half a dozen base locations, including a combined port and naval air station at Rota on the Atlantic side of Gibraltar, designed to serve as the home port of the American Sixth Fleet. Largest of the land bases is at Torrejon near Madrid. Costing 60 million dollars, its 13,400-foot runways are the longest in Europe. The ability we have to strike hard against Russia with A-weapons is the chief deterrent to war. What we have ready in Spain obviously increases the power of that deterrent.

When In Boston Keep Your Old Manners

BOSTON—Ever since the days when the Indians controlled the real estate and wampum of Boston, this has been a city that has lamented change. In refined tones, with coffee and cigars and dropped "r's," they have developed the passing of the past.

Other citizens in other cities of the U.S. may be heard to say "things ain't like they used to be in the good old days," but they mention this only in passing and weep tiny tears, comparatively, when a tax-cramped mansion is replaced by a discount furniture mart.

But in Boston, it's different. For some reason, which mere visitors never fully will comprehend, the sight of a new structure or the blight of an old tree will bring city-wide misery here—not only to those families who are rooted almost as staunchly and lengthily as the tree was, but to the "newcomers" who have lived here only several generations.

WHETHER YOU understand the Bostonian's attitude or not (and everyone, including courteous elevator men who look like old English gentlemen, will assure you you cannot—no possibly), as a visitor you must be grateful for it. Because, although the city has grown and some small snatches of it are as spanking fresh as a four-year-old in church, most of the city still looks more like an octogenarian in a bowler.

As you get lost, as inevitably strangers do in the maze of traffic-lagging squares and circles and spokes, you always find yourself ultimately in the presence of an historical landmark.

IT IS A CITY in which a tourist can wallow in history and the cool shade of trees that once sheltered Puritans. Oddly enough, though it was a band of Bostonians who staged the "Tea Party" which hastened America's revolution for independence from England, there is no place in America that smacks more of England today.

The politeness is the same, and the gentle reserve. In talking to a Bostonian, as in talking to an Englishman, one cannot be certain whether one is addressing a shy man, or one with superbly confident reticence.

Whatever quality it is in the Englishman and Bostonian, it makes the invader from the west—all lands beyond Providence, R. I., being west—feel uncomfortable as though the slip is showing and the nose is shiny.

THERE ARE many stories regarding Boston's sense of decorum, including the true tale of what happened when a kettie of fat in the prim Somerset Club caught fire and threatened to destroy the kitchen, and perhaps even the nearby solid bone chess sets, not to mention the gentlemen who dozed over them.

The Boston Fire Department rushed its fellows and hoses to the scene. They were advised, politely, to use the service and not the members' entrance.

ACCORDING to Mr. John P. Marquand, the foremost raconteur about Boston, the recounting of this story hurts the feelings of Somerset clubmen because it carries an implication of "exclusiveness," which may be misconstrued as snobbery.

Bostonians are not snobs. They are rather prudent and proper people, as befits descendants of the Puritans.

If you love traditional things—old brownstones and old headstones, under ancient branches—Boston is a wonderful place to visit.

If one is contemplating living there, however, it might be wise to carry a supply of white gloves, know a Cabot and a Lodge, and remember the advance of Captain Lawrence who, in the war of 1812, urged "Don't give up the ship." In Boston, that goes for your old mannerisms, too.

Mellon's Ghost Hovers Over Humphrey Quiz

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—What is happening to Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey these days is highly reminiscent of what happened to the late Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury from 1921 to 1932 under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Democratic strategy in attacking the men responsible for fiscal policies in the Republican administrations is much the same in both cases. Both Humphrey and Mellon stood for a business-man's type of government, with lowered taxes, greater economy and a balanced budget in periods of high prosperity.

Both were the richest men in government—though Humphrey's 12-million-dollar holdings make him a small businessman, a piker, when compared to Mellon's 300 million.

Curiously enough, the attacks in both cases, 25 years apart, were led by other millionaires.

IT WAS THE late Sen. James Couzens of Michigan who led the assault on Mellon's fiscal policies after the 1929 crash. Before that, it was Texas Jack Garner who had blocked Mellon's effort to put a 25 per cent ceiling on income taxes.

In the Humphrey case, it is Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia apple millionaire, who is chairman of the current Senate Finance Committee probe of fiscal policies. One of his principal allies is Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, millionnire oil man, who boasts openly that this is a political probe.

Actually, there is no parallel between the way Humphrey has conducted fiscal policy and the way Mellon ran it.

In the 11 years that Mellon headed the treasury, tax rebates of over 3.5 billion dollars were given to American business firms. Mellon's own companies got 1.3 billion.

In apparent retaliation for exposing a whole chain of events like these, the government filed a suit against Senator Couzens to recover 11 million dollars from his sale of Ford Company stock for over 50 millions. Couzens won this suit.

IT WAS A charge by Rep. Wright Patman (D.-Tex.) that finally forced Mr. Mellon out of Washington. The charge was that Mellon had used his official position to influence Colombian government policies. Shortly thereafter one of the Mellon oil companies bought the rich Barco field for 115 million dollars.

Mellon denied the charge and said he had no knowledge of the deal. But with the depression creating so much chaos in Washington, the political climate became too unhealthy for the 77-year-old Mellon. President Hoover named him ambassador to London in February, 1932, and named Ogden L. Mills as his successor for the remainder of the year. Patman's probe was then dropped.

The late Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, a Theodore Roosevelt Progressive, was to declare later that the Mellon fiscal policies brought on the depression.

CERTAINLY it was the aftermath of all these disclosures which contributed to President Hoover's defeat in 1932.

It is in the hope of developing such political ammunition for 1938 and 1960 that the Democrats now probe Humphrey fiscal policies. There is no suspicion of any personal wrongdoing in Humphrey's stewardship of treasury. He is leaving this position voluntarily in the near future with no sign of a depression to be charged with.

But the theme of what's up may have been indicated in a letter to the newspapers by Prof. Seymour Harris, chairman of Harvard's economics department.

He accuses the secretary of having failed to achieve any of his fundamental objectives since federal expenses are now higher, interest rates are up and inflation highest in peacetime.

Harris concludes that, "Not the 72-billion-dollar budget, but the lack of comprehension of modern economics such as shown by Secretary Humphrey might bring on a hair-curling depression."

The Old Man

DURING ALL the centuries of recorded history, war has been the most costly enterprise undertaken by mankind. Even without the awful toll of death and misery, war has been the great economic Old Man of the Sea clinging with horrible tenacity to the back of the human race. The Old Man is gaining weight.

One rather small but significant facet of this growing cost is underscored in a new study published by Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization which does research on taxation and government spending. Between 1946 and 1953, the Foundation reports, the federal government "spent 23 billion dollars for World War II and Korean readjustments and mustering-out payments."

During the same period, the various states spent a total of $3,129,400,000 on veterans' programs. Between 1947 and 1955, the states issued $2.2 billion in

Glancing Sideways

MANASSAS, Va. — The softly rolling hills and gentle ravines of this Virginia countryside once were a din of barking cannon and snarling musketry, the site of the several battles for possession and domination of this strategic ground.

There is a small point in recording now the human side of these desperate and bloody struggles during an agonizing war between the American States. But it is impossible to walk slowly up and down a stretch of the famous battlefield without thinking in terms which have little or no individual application to a war of ideas fought for a complex of reasons.

INSTEAD, keeping not far away New Market in mind, where the terribly young and grotesque, valiant near-children from VMI were slaughtered in defense of Virginia, one does think in terms of well-bred children tugging their martial drums and seizing up the muskets of fallen and older comrades.

Children did fight here at Manassas in the First and Second battles, and after. Some as young as 12 years old, erect and proud young boys of the Confederacy, youngsters from humble farms and stately plantations, sliding together into remorseless battle with bright brass bugles at their lips or loud, rhythmic drums slung at their belts.

They didn't intend to be killed, or perhaps they didn't even think about it. They just wanted, in a blooded Southern way, to be a part of what their fathers, older brothers and uncles were fighting to gain.

WALTER Thompson was out on the quiet, breeze-ruffled battlefield early this morning, his 32 years failing to sag his back or bend his knees. We sat near a monument and talked. He didn't have any real advantage over you, if you are only 32, you didn't fight at Manassas, either. You weren't yet born.

"The children?" he asked, as we sat in the shade. "Yes, they were that. Fishing age, schooling age, free-climbing age. But they came out here onto this spread of field and put down their lives in the worst way."

"I had an uncle, come to think of it he must have been a great-uncle, who was in it. His name was Sam Woodward. He was 13 years old, the way the family has it written down. He had a girl cousin, a slip of a thing just 17, and she was being married to a young sprout who was waltzing himself off to war and Sam went to the wedding.

"It was out under the shade trees, as you history tells it. After what with the war crowd and the excitement, they let him drink a mile too much. I'll put it plain: Sam got drunk, all 13 years of him, and he staggered off mouthing man-talk and enlisted by sun-down.

"He was right here on the field by the next noon and was dead by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Some soldier! I don't think he even got his uniform pressed first. He was dead before he knew the manual of arms."

WE WALKED away and came to machines gnawing out a quarry of limestone. We stood on the edge and looked down into the dusty, noisy pit.

"People go to Gettysburg or Vicksburg," said Walter, "and they see all those monuments and honored emplacements and then they come here and are surprised. There's no jungle of statues here and there's a good reason: the boys here fought on turf just a few thin inches above hard-hard rock. This is a rocky, forbidding ground and you'd have to steam-drill foundation holes for statues.

"If they trenched here, which I doubt, they must have blown the trenches open. My belief, and I never found a historian to deny it, is that the Battles of Manassas were fought on the open ground. No one dug in.

"A man came to you or you came to him and he shot you or you shot him and one of you died with a hole in the abdomen. You died of heat and hurt and lack of saliva or penicillin or even a nearby doctor. You died of galloping germs having a field day while you were helpless.

"That was a bad kind of fighting. Real bad. Especially for down-faced boys. Mama didn't even come to tuck them away for the last time."

Solons Eat And People Pay

WASHINGTON — To the consternation of Senator Paul Douglas, the price of bean soup has gone up five cents a bowl, but the taxpayer will continue to subsidize the Senate restaurant next year to the tune of $85,000.

If the Senator only had known that when he made a speech a couple of weeks ago suggesting that the statesmen pay for their lunches in full, he probably would have stood in bed. The powers-that-be raised the prices at once; they also kept the subsidy in the legislative appropriation bill.

Worse than that, even, was what happened to Senator Frank J. Lausche, who was amazed last winter when he first came to work here to discover that the management had slipped him $7,000 for long-distance telephone calls.

THE SENATOR said he didn't need $7,000 for phoning his constituents. He said, in fact, that he couldn't possibly spend that much, not even if he used the phone in a foolhardy manner. He also said, what was he to do with the money he had left over?

Senator John Stennis, in charge of the bill, said he kindly could give it back. He said Senators last year returned about $2,000,000 in funds they found they couldn't spend.

This, countered Lausche, was not exactly a wise way to handle the people's cash. Give a man more money than he needs, said the Senator, and he's likely to spend more than he absolutely must.

The gentleman from Mississippi said the gentleman from Ohio would discover after he's been here a little longer that his phone calls will become more numerous and he may spend more than he now expects. The Senators then passed the bill with $7,000 in phone money for everyone.

THIS LITTLE debate about uneconomic economies in the Senate house-keeping budget began when Douglas noted that the measure listed $23,436,000 for the new Senate Office Building, now rising in marble grandeur across the street from the old one. Did this figure include furniture?

Stennis said it did not. The new desks and chairs will be bought under a different appropriation and he said he did not yet know how much they would cost.

Douglas urged that the furniture budget be scanned carefully. He said not long ago the taxpayers in his home state discovered that some of their representatives in Springfield had paid $1,000 each for desks and $99 apiece for wastebaskets. He said he hoped nothing like that would happen here.

HE THEN took up his celebrated speech about bean soup, a Senatorial delicacy long served for 10 cents per large bowl. Douglas said this was too cheap. He said all the prices in the Senatorial restaurant were too low. He'd much prefer to pay more for his meals, he continued, than know with each spoon of soup that the taxpayers were helping foot the bill. The voters have it tough enough, he said, without subsidizing the Senatorial dining room.

Two days later bean soup went up to 25 cents. Hamburger sandwiches jumped from 65 cents to 75 cents and Douglas happily dug deeper.

He said now he was amazed to find in the new money bill the same old $85,000 listed for helping the restaurant pay its way. "I thought the price boost was going to do that," he said.

STENNIS said if the Rules Committee, which runs the restaurant, didn't spend the $85,000 next year, it could turn it back to the Treasury, along with Lausche's phone money. So the bill was passed, with never a dissenting vote.

It developed then that when the new Senate Office Building is finished, workmen will tear out the insides of the old one to make it deluxer. This will include adding an extra room or two to the suites of those Senators who remain there.

We taxpayers will learn later how much this will cost. Of one thing we can be sure: Our lawgivers will be well housed.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Bob Hope, the comedian's Croesus, believes he probably has told more jokes than any other man in history.

He's been skipping them out past his ski-slope nose at the rate of better than 10,000 a year for the last quarter century. "I figure I've told at least a quarter million jokes," he said, "and if you count repeat jokes, that is jokes told over and over to different audiences while on tour, the number would go into the millions."

"I doubt if anyone else has told more," he said, adding with a grin, "who else has had the chance?"

WHEN YOU LOOK over the field, the candidates are few. Can any other gag man match his combined experience in vaudeville, radio and television, movies—50 —and on tour?

Runs need never fear that Hope will run out of jokes. The Mississippi river is more likely to go dry.

Although he is known as one of the best ad libbers in the business, Bob also is as methodical as a clock. He has perhaps the finest individual humor library of anyone in the show world. It runs to about 80 file cabinets.

Once he had 12 writers and three secretaries at work building up his laugh library. "It must contain at least between three and four million jokes," he remarked.

Many times he has gone to his library to help out fellow entertainers in desperate need for fresh material.

"I'm glad to help them," said Bob, "particularly if they're doing a show for charity. I believe in it."

The stern anxieties of comedy that have driven many present day funny men to psychoanalysis leave Hope unruffled. "I'm not a touch man myself," he said, "And I'm not just disgustingly normal. Every comedian is an individual, but television — the problem of trying to be funny every week—can drive anyone to the couch."

"It gives a man the feeling he's in a rut. It takes a lot of work sometimes to get rid of that feeling. I think the best answer is to change—to try something different."

HOPE FEELS HE escaped the danger of out-rust by starring in "Beau James," the life story of former Mayor Jimmy Walker.

"It was more of a straight dramatic role. One problem I had was that the mayor was a skinny guy. I had to lose 15 pounds. I did it on a diet of lamb chops, fruit salad and yogurt."

Tension causes many casualties in show business as well as in every other industry, and Bob has his own recipe to avoid it.

"There is very little tension when you're doing something you really know. What will really make you blow up is to try to do something for the first time at the moment. The answer is to be prepared—and avoid emergencies."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — I went through my bureau drawer the other morning looking for a clean bomb to wear to President Eisenhower's press conference, but I couldn't find one, so I had a fall-out with my bride. I made efforts to decontaminate myself, but I do not think I would have succeeded except that curiosity overcame my ire. She asked me where I was going.

"I am bound for our weekly disarmament conference with the President," I replied. "This promises to be a clean bomb day. The Eisenhower Administration is currently preoccupied with a clean bomb."

"What is that—a well-washed tramp?" "You are my love, my soul, my half-life!" I cried, in a voice charged with 96 per cent emotion. "You are indeed one of the great wits of our time. Unfortunately, this isn't our time. I must be gone."

The room in which we foregather with Ike is one of the few chambers in Washington not air-conditioned, and it was so scorchingly hot I half expected to see a mushroom cloud ascend. As I had predicted, we got going on the clean bomb almost from the first question.

FROM WHAT I could gather, the scientific minds now at the President's disposal have found the key whereby they can avoid killing people unintentionally. Mr. Eisenhower said they are working on a bomb which is 96 per cent clean, which is more than I would care to vouch for some of these people present.

I thought I had a story which would make the readers go strontium proufium when the President said he hoped the Russians would perfect a clean bomb, too, and use it. But a White House familiar, who goes by the name of James C. Hagerly, probably an alias, "straightened" this out later.

I use the word "straightened" with a straightened face because Mr. Hagerly corrected the official transcript so that it had the President saying:

"I would hope that they would learn how to use clean bombs and if they ever used any atomic bombs the bombs used would be clean ones for the simple reason that then at least the bombs used would be specific weapons instead of weapons of general and uncontrolled destruction."

THE PRESIDENT, however, was not the only one to suffer a lapse at the press conference. There was so much bewildering discussion of what might be done with nuclear weapons that I lapsed into fanciful speculation as to what the Administration might do in the way of developing a bomb so clean it would kill only people who had done it dirty.

I "reasoned" that the next obvious step would be to produce a "cold" bomb, so that the blast alone, and not the heat, would cause death. I had to stifle the temptation to jump up and propound direct, straight-from-the-shoulder question, which, in keeping with the accepted pattern for our White House news conferences, would have gone as follows:

"Now, Mr. President, I would like to have your thinking as to how would you feel about a bomb without any calories, conscious these days, and if we had a no-cal bomb we might go on from there to a 100 per cent clean bomb that carried its own scouring powder, which might be a deterrent to war, and finally produce a bomb with no blast, no fall-out, no deaths or destruction, and ultimately the ideal weapon, no bomb at all, would you give us the benefit of your thinking on that?"

Pennsylfawnische Dietch Preparing For Big Kutztown Festival This Week

KUTZTOWN, Pa. — (NEA) — "Koom essa" is the traditional mealtime call in the Pennsylvania Dutch country and it means mountains of delicious food are ready and waiting.

For the eighth consecutive year, the Pennsylvania Dutch will welcome the whole world to dine with them at their folk festival at the Kutztown fairgrounds from Wednesday through Sunday. Kutztown is halfway between Reading and Allentown on Route 222.

Tasty dishes which have made the Pennsylvania Dutch (Pennsylfawnische Dietch) famous for generations will be prepared by farm women as well as church and grange folks.

Last year some 50,000 persons from all parts of the nation and 11 foreign lands whetted their appetites at the fairgrounds. An even greater number are expected to converge on the fairgrounds this year.

Such unique Pennsylfawnische Dietch foods as gawrdawigle, hubba beer, balsam tea, puppli, oier and halle kase will be in plentiful supply. Apple butter will be made in large old-fashioned kettles by women using long wooden spoons for stirring. Visitors will also be able to satisfy their appetites on schnitt un gaep, butt bol, snavey sticks, rivvel soup, shoo-fly pie and schmeer kase.

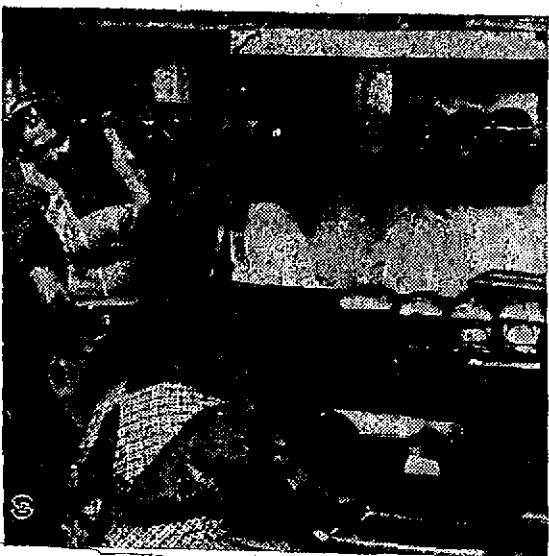

For the first time visitors will be able to take home such treats as homemade kanebrot (bread), pepper cabbage, (peffer grauts), pickled red eggs, (rote reva oier), fresh sausage and many other delicious items made by Titus Sensenig and his wife, along with other "Plain" folks of Ephrata, Lancaster County.

Among the highlights at the festival will be a two-hour pageant depicting Pennsylvania Dutch farm life. It will be presented Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. A two-day seminar on all phases of the region's folklore will be held Wednesday and Friday.

Persons interested in farming methods of early Pennsylvania Dutch settlers will be able to watch demonstrations of threshing, snake and post fence construction, quilting, butter churning, butchering and milking. Many ancient farm implements will be on exhibit.

Some 50 craftsmen, including many old-timers will demonstrate their skills. There will be a cooper, blacksmith, wheelwright, potter, weaver, glassblower and even a "hex" sign painter.

A "calico corner" will be set up so housewives will be able to purchase yards from more than a score of patterns traditional to the Pennsylvania Dutch. A large section of the festival will be devoted to antiques, including heirlooms which have descended in families since the original Pennsylvania Dutch immigrants arrived from Germany in the 17th Century; and to the work of modern local artisans in the decorative arts.

One of the features of the festival will be evening jugging and hoedowning contests to select champion square-dancing teams of the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

A decorative motif will be prominently displayed in the brightly painted Distelfink, a stylized bird which has become to be something of the symbol of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

Distelfink Day will be observed Saturday, with the swearing-in en masse of approximately 200 Pennsylvania Dutch youths who have enlisted in the Navy's Distelfink Battalion.

How To Save

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Americans find life insurance the most popular way to save, the University of Michigan Survey Research Center reports. The Center says 115 million Americans own life insurance, and 57 per cent of all families have each family member insured.

Wyoming, in 1869, was the first state to grant women the right to vote.

Blind People Get News Through Weekly Records

PARAMUS, N. J. (AP)—Blind persons in this area are receiving weekly news records of local happenings thanks to a resident photographer.

Jacques Saphier, the photographer, cuts the records with the help of bedridden patients at Bergen Pines Hospital. Then they are distributed to the blind. The records are regulation size and play on any phonograph. Because of its success the program is being expanded by northern New Jersey Rotary clubs.

Mayor's Slot, Eves Says 'Strong Mayor In Weak

Mayor Roy W. Eves says he's "a strong mayor in a weak mayor's slot," but declined to comment on his political future during a weekend visit to Baltimore.

Eves was quoted by a City Hall reporter for the Baltimore American while he was relaxing in Mayor D'Alesandro's air conditioned office. Eves reportedly said: "Pretty nice office here. I love that air conditioning. My office is air conditioned, too. Have two of the things, but they're so noisy I have to turn them off to talk to anybody. "D'Alesandro now, he's got good air conditioning. Can hardly hear it. I guess that's because Baltimore has a strong mayor system and Cumberland has a weak one. Here I am, a strong mayor in a weak mayor's slot. Rough sometimes." Yearns For 'Honeymooners'

TV Family Fare Unreal; Must 'Live' On $27,500

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—I didn't think I'd be eating crow so soon, but I'm glad to hear that Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners" are returning to television as re-runs.

I'm longing to see that dreary cold-water flat with its sooty fire escape and sleazy furniture. The high living on low incomes that we've been seeing on television recently has finally worn me down.

Did you know that the average American family income is $27,500? According to television it is. According to the comedies about cute young couples and nicely balanced families, according to the great majority of dramas, that's the average income.

TV Home Costs $39,500

Our survey shows: The average television home costs $39,500 — or thereabouts. It's usually a two-story rather than a split-level; it has a spacious yard and a two-car garage. And the furniture isn't paid for. It can't be. They're forking it out at the rate of about $1,000 a year for that wall-to-wall carpeting, that modern decor. Add a thousand more a year for that kitchen, which invariably is strictly out of tomorrow.

Our typical television family is spending $10,000 a year on shelter, food and transportation alone. But a close analysis of this survey of dozens of programs reveals that one of the biggest items is clothing—especially the wife's clothing.

Different Clothes

Have you noticed that each time you pay your weekly home screen visit to one of your favorite TV families, the lady of the house is wearing something different? And she usually manages to change three or four times on one visit. Six thousand dollars for clothing!

It turns out that these people aren't saving a cent and are even borrowing money from the bank to get by — on $27,500 a year. But is it realistic? Not on my set. After a while you begin to recall that life simply isn't like this. You get to wishing you could visit Ralph and Alice Kramden!

in that sleazy cold-water flat in Brooklyn.

North End Sets Playlot Events

North End Playground events for the week have been announced by Miss Wilda Winterberg, director, and Mike Wilson, leader.

Children will begin registering this week for the learn-to-swim program at Constitution Park. They will attend during the weeks of July 15 to 19 and July 22 to 26.

Other special events include a combined talent show with Columbia Street playlot Wednesday, at 7 p. m. The winners will represent their respective playlots in the city talent contest to be held later this summer.

Also set for Wednesday is a crafts class at 10 a. m. conducted by Miss Ann Gibson and a Weiner and marshmallow roast at 12:30 p. m. Movies will be shown Friday evening at dusk.

Winners of last Friday's stuffed animal contest, as announced by Miss Winterberg: Sylvia Miller, prettiest; Ricky Weismiller, funniest; Stevie Meconi, most unusual; Jacky Marcy, largest; Barbara Powers, smallest; and Janet Ruehl, most original.

Seek Bogus Solicitor

Officials of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, of Ridgeley, report that a man posing as a solicitor for the American Legion, has been seeking contributions from residents of Mineral County.

The man reportedly has been seeking money from residents along the Old Furnace Road, and in the Wiley Ford and Fort Ashby sections. No such solicitor is being sent around by the Ridgeley post, the officials said.

Florence Nightingale was born of English parents, but in Florence, Italy. Hence her first name.

Sergeant To Get Lie Detector Test

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — A lie detector test—police said it was routine—was scheduled today for an Army sergeant who was with Mrs. Margaret Harold when she was slain last Wednesday.

Police Sgt. Roy D. Hudson would get the test at Fort Meade, Md., only because Anne Arundel County has no polygraph. An Army technician will operate the Army machine but Police Lt. Elmer G. Hagner will do the questioning.

Wilbur Wade, Anne Arundel County police chief, has emphasized that the sergeant is not a suspect.

Hudson and the 36-year-old Arbutus housewife were parked on a lonely road about 12 miles west of here when Mrs. Harold was fatally shot by a bushy-browed man who came out of the woods. Hudson is stationed at Fort Meade and Mrs. Harold worked there.

A force of 75 men tramped those marshy woods yesterday in a search for the murder weapon. Some 2½ hours later, all they had come up with was a piece of chrome stripping from a car. And Chief Wade said it definitely was not from the make and model the killer used to make his getaway.

Chief Wade reported, meanwhile that police were looking for three men in connection with the slaying—all of them Anne Arundel County residents with criminal records.

He said one of the three was last arrested by Lt. Leo Kinsey and Kinsey remembered that the man was driving a 1948 green sedan like the getaway car and also had pictures of nude women in his possession.

A shack near the murder scene—where police believe the killer stayed from time to time—had pictures of nude women pasted on the walls. Many of the pictures had been clipped from crime magazines.

A fourth man being sought by police still has not been found. But Chief Wade said police have the man's fingerprints and they do not check out with three prints lifted from the car in which Mrs. Harold was shot.

When a snapshot of the man was Philip is a Greek name, meaning "lover of horses."

Cunningham New Teacher At Flintstone

Michael P. Cunningham, 133 East Main Street, Frostburg, has been named mathematics instructor at Flintstone High School.

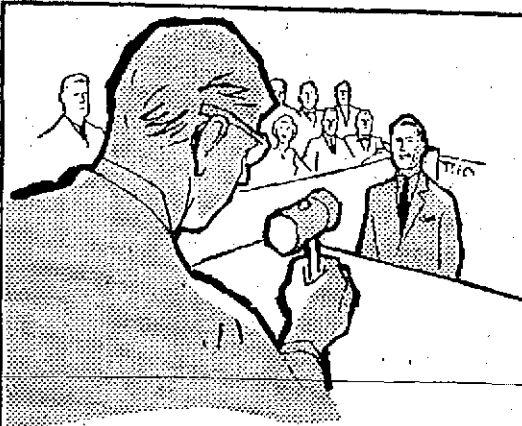

He will replace Raymond Chaney who is being transferred to the new Bryce High School in Westport, where he will teach junior high school subjects. Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of Allegany County public schools, who made the announcement, said Cunningham taught for four months at West Side Elementary School last school year.

A graduate of Allegany High School in 1933, he also graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College in June 1936.

He had worked as a research technician at the Amcelle Plant, also served in the Marine Corps from 1930 until 1932.

Frederick's Curfew Law Is Enforced

FREDERICK, Md. — Frederick police have made their first arrests in enforcing a curfew law dusted off recently to combat juvenile delinquency.

Police Chief Charles V. Main announced last Wednesday that the old curfew law still on the books would be enforced. It forbids any children under 16 from being on the streets after 10 p.m. without their parents.

Chief Main said his men picked up seven youngsters last night. They were released in their parents' custody pending juvenile court action.

Mother Dog Perishes Trying To Help Pups

CLARKSDALE, Miss. — When fire broke out in the garage of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Haaga Jr. of Clarksdale, their beautiful collie dog could easily have escaped.

But her nine puppies, only four weeks old and still relatively helpless, were also in the garage. The mother dog, unwilling to desert the puppies, perished with them in the flames.

Juliet's 'Secretary,' 66, Guide At Tomb, Retires

VERONA, Italy (U)—Juliet Capulet's "secretary" retired yesterday.

Ettore Solimani, 66, sometime sailor, school teacher and journeyman laborer, was pensioned off after 20 years in a job the city titled "curator of the shrine of Juliet." But he called himself Juliet's secretary and handled all the mail which came addressed to her.

He was the keeper of and the guide at the tomb of Juliet, one of the big tourist attractions in this walled Italian city where, according to Shakespearean tradition, the tragic and immortal love affair of the "star-cross'd lovers" Romeo and Juliet took place.

Twenty years ago, owing to his constant pleading, the Verona City Corporation allotted a small sum to smarten up the Capulet family home and the place where Juliet was buried, and appointed Solimani its custodian.

"I knew what I wanted," he said. "I wanted to create a shrine here in Verona to satisfy the aching need for a token of love felt by millions of young people the world over. I wanted to fill a gap in their lives, to give them a magic moment in the presence of the greatest lover of all time, a moment they could remember all their lives."

Baltimore Girl Reported Missing

BALTIMORE, Md. — Police said Jeanette Webb, a 17-year-old blue-eyed high school student from Goldsboro, N. C., met a fast-talking young Marine on a bus to Baltimore this weekend. She hasn't been seen since.

Police broadcast a 13-state alarm today after the girl left her brother at the Baltimore bus terminal, saying she was going with the servicemen to marry him.

The girl and her brother came here to visit their mother, Mrs. Ruby Lee Harwood. The brother told police that on the way they met the unnamed Marine, who said he was on his way to New York.

Seafarers' Union Signs Agreement

BALTIMORE, Md. — Tugboat crew members who are members of the Seafarers International Union, AFL-CIO, have agreed upon a new 30-month contract with five Baltimore towing companies.

The contract expiring Sept. 30, 1960, provides for 50 cents an hour in increased wages—30 cents immediately, 12 cents in October of next year and eight cents in October, 1958.

A strike of tug crewmen who were members of the United Mine Workers ended June 18 shortly after eligible tug crewmen voted to be represented by the SIU.

High School Ceremony Strictly Family Affair

WEICHI, Okla. (U)—School officials selected Larry Swango as valedictorian of the high school graduating class here and Lora Mae Durham as salutatorian.

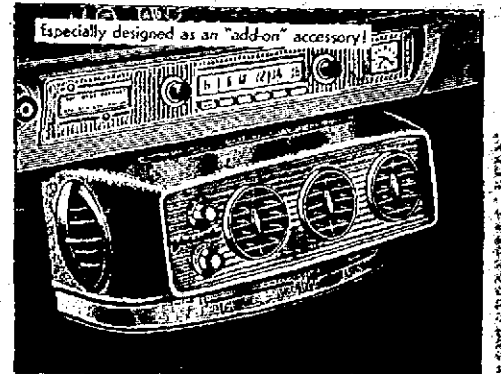

Then they learned it was a family affair. The two 17-year-old seniors were married secretly last August, but it wasn't disclosed until the bride's mother found the marriage license in her daughter's room.

WEATHERED OUT HURRICANE—Asa Roux, 65, who weathered out Hurricane Audrey in the attic of his house at Cameron, La., hangs out clothes to dry as this quiet fishing village began to return to normal routine. Roux said his father, who died at 92, stayed with the same house during a violent storm in 1879. (AP Photos)

Doctor's Work To Be Remembered

CAMERON, La. (AP) — Dr. Cecil Clark, the only doctor in this coastal city devastated by Hurricane Audrey, will be remembered by the townspeople here long after the last sign of the storm's destructiveness is removed.

The 32-year-old family doctor to the 2,500 persons in this town stayed at a makeshift hospital 24 hours after he learned that three of his five children had perished in the hurricane.

"He just kept working, taking care of the injured as though nothing had happened," said C. W. Faulk, a 31-year-old Cameron resident.

"I've known him all my life and he did just like we thought he would. He took care of everyone who was brought in here. You never saw the likes of it. He finally left Friday when other doctors came," Faulk said.

Clark's house, called the show-place of Cameron, was destroyed by the flood. His wife and three daughters were in the house with the housekeeper when the storm was at its worst. The family climbed to the roof of the house, hoping that there they would find refuge from the steadily rising water.

Only minutes before the storm's brunt was felt, Clark left his home to take care of a patient at the Cameron Medical Center. He never saw his daughters alive again.

Within 30 minutes after he left, the tidal wave hit with full force. His house collapsed and Mrs. Clark was swept into the water with their 2-month-old baby girl clutched in her arms.

Somewhat, Mrs. Clark does not recall how she floated about 20 miles in the water. Her baby was torn from her arms during the ordeal. The infant has not been found.

The housekeeper and the two other girls also have not been found.

The only children to survive were the couple's two sons who were visiting grandparents near Grand Chenier.

The young doctor was reunited yesterday with Mrs. Clark at Lake Charles. Then he took a boat back to Cameron to help identify the dead, assist in funeral arrangements and resume his care of the townspeople.

Mrs. Clark remained behind at Lake Charles under doctors' care. Clark has practiced here only five years but has lived in Cameron all his life.

John B. Constance, the 36-year-old deputy sheriff of Cameron Parish, said, "The doctor had a sad look on his face. He was broken-hearted and the people

United Fund Chapter Set In Tri-Towns

Includes Westernport, Luke, Piedmont And Smaller Communities

Unanimous approval was given yesterday afternoon at a public meeting in the Union Hall at Westernport for the formation of a chapter of the United Fund in the Tri-Towns.

Besides Westernport, Luke and Piedmont the area also will include Franklin, Mill Run near Barton, McCool and Blooming-ton in Maryland and Beryl and Hampshire in West Virginia.

Various civic and charitable organizations, churches and municipal governments were represented.

Ort Explains Fund

Wayne Ritchie, executive director of the Tri-Towns Organization and a member of the executive committee of the County United Fund, Inc., opened the meeting. He introduced Lewis J. Ort, who is general chairman of the United Fund Appeal for 1957-58.

Ort explained that the purpose of the organization will be greater efficiency in the handling of money contributed to various charitable organizations. Each organization will submit a budget for approval by the United Fund. Several national health organizations have not yet signed up but they still will be apportioned a share of the funds collected.

The fund raising chairman stated that a county organizer with assistants will help set up the drive. Advance gifts will be solicited from business firms and professional persons and an effort will be made to set up payroll deduction plans at plants. It is anticipated that operating expenses will run about eight per cent.

Ritchie reported that employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the G. C. Murphy Company in the Tri-Towns have agreed to the plan.

Prayer at the meeting was led by Rev. L. E. Crowson, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Piedmont.

Woodward D. Pealer, one of the co-chairmen of the United Fund, and Adolf Blunk, office manager, also were present.

Note Increase In Marriages

During the first six months of 1957 there were more marriage licenses issued at the Allegany County Court House than during the same period in 1956.

Figures compiled at the Court House show that 84 more were issued during the six-month period. The total issued so far this year was 1,348, in comparison to 1,264 last year.

But the number issued in June of this year was slightly lower than June 1956. This June, 297 were issued, while 309 were issued last year.

A breakdown by months shows that 192 were issued in January this year, 181 in February, 215 in March, 231 in April, 232 in May, and 297 in June. Last year the figures were as follows: January 164, February 165, March 176, April 224, May 226, and June 309.

Jail Break Short-Lived For Quartet

Midnight Flight
From County Jail
Lasts Two Hours

Four prisoners in the Allegany County Jail broke out last night about midnight but their freedom was short lived.

One of the men, James A. Christman, 31, was recaptured by two City Police Department detectives and two state troopers about 1:40 a. m. at the home of Dewey Welch, on Bottle Neck Road, just off Bedford Road.

The arresting officers were Dets. Joseph Stichter and George Furstenberg of the City Police and Troopers D. A. Tucker and Robert Wolford.

The other three fugitives were recaptured within sight of the jail. They are Walter Perry, 18, and Richard Perry, 17, his brother, and Melvin Carter, 18, of the Frostburg area.

Received Tip On Break.

The sequence of events was as follows: Sheriff Edward R. Muir received a call from City Police that they had an anonymous tip that Christman was out. The sheriff said he was in his cell when the night check had been made. The sheriff went to the cell block and found that not only Christman but the three other young men had broken out.

Deputy Sheriff Edward M. Lewis then related the story, as he reconstructed it. The men had jimmied the cell lock mechanism with an eight-inch long piece of metal bar similar to a plumber's tool.

They made their way to the consulting room on the second floor where they removed a glass window and made their exit via an aperture which was only nine by 12 inches in size. Deputy Lewis said he thinks the single steel bar had been sawed through sometime previously.

Removed Underwear

The three young men were able to squeeze through with their clothes on but Christman, who is a stocky build, had to remove his clothes and soap his body to gain freedom. His underwear were found inside the room. Evidently he had thrown his outer clothes through the aperture before hand.

A length of blanket was used by the quartet to drop to a window-sill on the floor below. From that point the men jumped into the jail yard, which is surrounded by a 30-foot wall.

The men then used a piece of antennae pole to climb over the wall. They evidently assisted each other in this move, because of the group, Richard Perry, was recaptured inside the wall.

Deputy Lewis said Walter Perry and Melvin Carter and Christman then fled. Perry and Carter then returned in an effort to extricate Richard Perry. It was at this point that the sheriff and his deputies nabbed the two men outside the wall hiding in the grass adjacent to the jail.

Went To Home

Christman in the meantime had gone to his home on Bedford Road, just beyond Nave's Cross road, and got his car. He went to his wife's home on Golden Lane, off Willowbrook Road and awakened her. It was then that he drove to the Welch home. Deputy Lewis said Welch is related to Christman's wife.

City Police who had been tipped off about Christman went to the home and captured the fugitive without incident. Sheriff Muir said it had been planned to take Christman to the State Penitentiary today to begin serving a five-year sentence imposed Saturday in Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris for the statutory rape of a 13-year-old Cumberland girl last November 10.

May Get Longer Term

The penalty for breach of prison, the charge which now faces Christman and the other three, calls for a maximum not to exceed 10 years.

An interesting sidelight to the breakout is that the saw blade or blades used to cut the steel

Two 50-Year Veterans On B&O Railroad Retire

Two employees of the B&O Railroad's clerical force at the Bolt and Forge Shops whose combined service totals 100 years with the company were honored at a dinner Saturday night in the All-Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Retiring after 50 years service each are G. Frank Messman, 106 Independence Street, and Chester W. Shaffer, 610 West Oldtown Road.

Messman began work with the B&O on January 2, 1907, as a messenger in the office of the Cumberland Division superintendent.

Shaffer started with the railroad in the Keyser office on June 10, 1907. Both were employees in the Cumberland Division, and their department was transferred to the B&O system.

Jobs Filled By Keyser's New Council

KEYSER—Keyser's new administration took over the city reins today in a routine session at which the City Council appointments were made.

Taking office were Mayor Richard Romig and Commissioners Raymond Murray, Lester Oates and Paul Peters. The latter two were also members of the former administration, which included Mayor John C. Freeland and Commissioner F. T. Kessel.

In a surprise statement following the announcement of the appointments, Carl Theis Jr. announced his resignation as city clerk, police court judge and city treasurer. He explained that he had accepted a position with the National Bank of Keyser, and said he was giving the Mayor and Council a 30-day notice so that he could help train his successor.

The appointments made were Peters, finance commissioner; Oates, street commissioner; Murray, water superintendent; Dr. T. T. Huffman, health commissioner; Charles W. Smith, city attorney; Willis Kesner, street superintendent; John W. Purgitt, water department superintendent; Guy F. Clem, reappointed police chief, and J. George Freeland, maintenance man for the police radio system.

Commissioner Asks Check Of Sewage Plant

Buchholz Wants
Final Approval
By R. T. Register

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said today the new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant should go into operation sometime between the middle and end of this month.

Buchholz said since the plant will come under jurisdiction of his department, he will "not touch it" until it receives an okay from Robert T. Register, consulting engineer on the project, and until Register turns it over to the Mayor and Council.

Buchholz said since he, as commissioner, is not an engineer, he is not in the position of being able to make the decision of when the plant is complete; a decision which could be detrimental to the city in the future. Therefore, he continued, he would await Register's go-ahead.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long raised the question of a meeting with Register scheduled two weeks ago but which was not held. He said the city should not have to ask Register here to a meeting since it is pay him "over $200,000" for his services as consulting engineer and supervisor.

In view of his feelings, Long voted "no" on an order which passed 4-1 to pay Register $3,688 as the 28th payment for his work as advisory supervisor and inspector on the sewage plant job.

And on a succeeding order affecting Register — an extended payment of $333.33 for his supervision of installations at Lake Gordon — Long also voted no. Water Commissioner William J. Edwards told Long in answer to a question that this would not be the last extended payment. The order also passed 4-1.

Routine Activity

Routine activity of council today included:

McIntyre Chevrolet, Gurley's and Light and Decker submitted bids on two panel trucks for the Water Department which were referred to Edwards for tabulation and report.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan was authorized to advertise for bids on four police cruiser cars; and Buchholz to seek bids on a 25-ton dump truck for the sewage treatment plant.

Council also authorized Buchholz to construct a storm sewer from Montgomery Avenue and Hill Top Drive to Baker Street with cost to be charged to the Street and Sewer Bonds of 1945 and the balance to the sewer appropriation as available.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Harts, 519 Hill Top Drive, writing for a group which appeared last week to protest damage to property during recent high rains, thanked council for its consideration and said they were glad to note council meetings were conducted in "the true democratic spirit."

An ordinance providing for closure of an alley in the Sanford Street vicinity of Maple-side was approved.

Ordinance Planned For Street Paving

An ordinance will be introduced before the Mayor and Council July 22 providing for the curbing, guttering and paving of Memorial Avenue from the intersection with Kent Avenue to Arundel Street; and for paving only of that section of Memorial from the intersection with Arundel to Oldtown Road.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz pointed out that the ordinance specifically provides for paving only in the block of Memorial which is already curbed and guttered.

Talent Show Today

The East Side Playground will hold a talent show today at 7:30 p. m., with a movie to be shown afterwards. Picnic Day will be observed Wednesday, and a boat show is planned Friday.

FIRST THRUWAY PROJECT—The removal of this property located at the intersection of Marion Street and Central Avenue, will be the first step taken by the State Roads Commission in clearing the right-of-way for the Cumberland Thruway. This property is located at the east end of the thruway. The SRC is taking bids for the removal of these two buildings until Tuesday, July 9, at noon, and the contract states they must be torn down by Tuesday, July 30.

Council Sets Referendum On Tax Rate

Possibility Of
Bond Issue Vote
Being Included

The Mayor and Council today set Tuesday, August 13 as the date for a referendum on a proposal to raise the tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50 for general purposes of the city.

The action was taken after it was confirmed that sufficient signatures (20 per cent of the qualified registered voters) had been verified on petitions submitted several weeks ago.

It was pointed out that the election date could be changed by amendment. Under terms of home rule, the election must be held not less than 40 days nor more than 60 days after the signatures have been verified.

May Include Bond Issue

The possibility that the $500,000 bond issue might also go on this ballot was also raised. Such a move was urged by James Alfred Avirett, local attorney, who said it would save the city approximately $7,000, the cost of a second election.

At the present time, Circuit Court is determining validity of certain names on petitions calling for a referendum on the $500,000 issue.

The tax limitation question will be posed to voters as follows: "The Mayor and Council shall have authority to raise the tax limitation for general purposes not to exceed $1.50 per $100."

Provides "Cushion"

The city is within 5 mills of the present limitation of $1.25. It has been explained previously by city officials that the proposal is not a tax increase but gives the city a "cushion" in event of emergency.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan urged today that council outline the "true picture" of why the bond issue and tax limitation proposal are necessary.

"The public is entitled to know," he said, adding that "the life blood of the city is at stake."

Club To Discuss Fund Projects

Plans for fund raising projects will be discussed at a meeting of the Teenage Club of Columbia Street Playground tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the playground.

Funds are being sought to finance a hayride that is planned later in the season.

The playground's talent contest will be held at the North End grounds Wednesday at 7 p. m. A movie will be shown at dusk that day at Columbia Street, and a square dance will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Members of the playground association will serve refreshments at the evening activities, it was announced.

Clerk Of Appeals Court Takes Oath

J. Lloyd Young today assumed his duties as clerk of the Maryland Court of Appeals when he took his oath of office before Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin in Annapolis.

Young, a native of Cumberland, was appointed by the judges of the Court of Appeals recently to succeed Maurice Ogle, who retired.

He was born here August 20, 1901. He received his education in the public schools in Allegany County. In his youth, Young held several positions with the B&O Railroad, and later became a tire builder when the Kelly Springfield Tire Company established its plant in Cumberland in 1921.

Young moved to Annapolis in 1926 and on April 27, 1927, was appointed as a junior deputy clerk in the office of the Court of Appeals by his father, the late James A. Young, who was at that time clerk of that court.

He gradually moved up in the office and in 1943 was advanced to the position of chief deputy. During 1935, when the Hall of Records building was completed on St. John's Campus, Young supervised the moving of a great many old papers and documents of the Court of Appeals to that building for restoration and preservation purposes.

In 1932, Young married Mary Constance Macaluso of Annapolis. He has one daughter, Mrs. Thomas B. Bailey, by a previous marriage.

Young comes from a prominent family of Western Maryland. His grandfather, John V. Young, a Democrat, was twice elected as clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, a position normally held by a Republican. His father, the late James A. Young, also a Democrat, was elected five times as clerk of the Maryland Court of Appeals, his last term expiring in November, 1942.

Young is also a Democrat; a member of Calvary Methodist Church in Annapolis; he is affiliated with East Gate Lodge 216, AF & AM in Cumberland; a member of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon 126 in Annapolis; a past exalted ruler of Elks Lodge 622 in Annapolis, and a member of the Annapolis Yacht Club. He resides in Annapolis with his wife and mother.

As clerk, Young automatically becomes a member of the State Board of Censors. He is also empowered to appoint, subject to the approval of the judges of the Court of Appeals, such deputy clerks as the requirements of his office shall necessitate.

John Shoemaker Sr., 60, died Saturday evening at his home here after an illness of six months. He was born in Mineral County, a son of the late John and Hanna (Blackburn) Shoemaker. Mr. Shoemaker was a retired farmer and formerly operated a restaurant in Burlington. He was a member of the Church of the Holy Trinity.

He is survived by his widow, Nellie L. (Martin) Shoemaker; three daughters, Mrs. Faye Guilek, Strasburg, Va.; Mrs. Elsie (Continued on Page 24)

Docket Called Here For July Court Term

The July term of Allegany County Circuit Court opened today with Chief Judge George Henderson calling the docket. It is a non-jury term.

There was only the judge, Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden, and two court attaches present when the docket was called.

City Flood Maintenance Crew Formed

Roy F. Maphis Gets
New Job In City
Street Department

The first step in the creation of a maintenance crew for the flood protection project was taken today when the Mayor and Council approved appointment of Roy F. Maphis as foreman at an annual salary of $4,000.

Maphis, formerly a shovel operator in the Street Department, is stepping into a newly-created job, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz, and will actually receive less in the new job than he did last year ($4,232.84).

Since the city is responsible for maintaining the flood project, a crew of at least three or four men will be necessary, the street commissioner told council. It will be a full-time job and supervised by the U. S. Corps of Engineers which is preparing a manual to be followed by the maintenance crew.

Maintaining the flood project is estimated to cost $100,000 a year, Buchholz said, adding that the city must appropriate $46,000 of that amount and the Engineers approximately $50,000.

In other moves affecting his department and which he said will result in savings, the following men were named foremen: Clarence R. Dyche, Robert W. Clark, Harry W. Rodenhauer, Harry W. Shewbridge, Raymond R. Valentine and William C. Simpson. All will be paid a straight $4,000 annual salary, Buchholz said.

Last year Dyche received $3,947.75; Rodenhauer, $4,014.90; Valentine, $4,095.90; Clark, $3,828.80; Shewbridge, $3,977.10; Simpson who just became a foreman would have received between $4,000 and $4,100 a year, the commissioner added.

While on the question of salaries, Finance Commissioner John J. Long said he wanted to make a motion that council meet with employees of the city water department (Lake Gordon) next Monday at 11 a. m. to discuss salary problems. He cited some inequities in pay as compared to salaries paid in other departments.

Buchholz questioned why Long was raising the point instead of water commissioner William J. Edwards. He wanted to know if there had been any request from Lake Gordon employees for a meeting heretofore and if any dissatisfaction expressed. Long said he had been approached and talked to Edwards about it. Edwards, he said, was in agreement. Edwards seconded the motion and it was approved.

Talent Contest Set

A talent show will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Centre Street Playground in order to select an entry for the city-wide talent contest.

A movie will follow the event. Wednesday at noon will be a picnic followed by a dance by the playlot's teenage club. Friday at 1 p. m. will be a handicraft class.

Mason Gets Recreation Directorship

Council Names
Local Man To Job
For One-Year Term

Appointment of C. Eugene (Gene) Mason as recreation director for one year was approved by the Mayor and Council today.

Mason, 948 Maryland Avenue, has been acting director for 60 days and was recommended for the position by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz under whose jurisdiction the recreation program comes.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute the contract with Mason calling for a salary of $375 a month effective today. He succeeds N. Gwynn Fletcher who resigned.

Handled Job 60 Days

Buchholz pointed out that the proposed consolidation of the parks and recreation department has no effect on the order to name Mason as director. He said Mason has served 60 days as acting director and proved he can do the job. At the same time he said he believed the city should "give a hometown boy a chance."

Finance Commissioner John J. Long again questioned why the Recreation Board and cited a recent opinion by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that council could approve rec appointments without an active board but said he (Finan) believed another board should be named.

Buchholz said the recreation program is working smoothly even without a board and he doesn't see why a board is necessary. Long persisted, however, that the way things are now, is not according to city ordinances. Buchholz replied that he did not ask the board to resign and that it had done so on its own. (The rec. board had recommended adoption of a consolidation plan but council did not act on the proposal. This was the major cause for the resignations of all members.)

Proposes Consolidation

Meanwhile, Buchholz proposed a consolidation plan of his own under the Street Department's jurisdiction and some further action on that might come by the time the next budget is set for 1957-58.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he had watched Mason closely and observed that he is qualified for the job. He said Mason and Buchholz could get together three or four times a week and discuss the program. Besides, he added, the rec board had been appointed to act only in an advisory capacity.

Long replied that the city should have a rec board or remove the requirement from city ordinances.

Other appointments today included:

Seasonal rec employees—John Morris as head lifeguard at Constitution Park pool at $19 a month, and Ronald Hudson as extra ballfield leader at $80 a month.

Carl Clinton Slaughter Jr., was named temporary fireman in the Fire Department effective today at a salary of $250 a month and in the absence of a Civil Service eligible list; Lloyd H. Day as a probationary member of the Fire Department; and Richard Leo Maters as temporary patrolman in the Police Department at $280 a month in the absence of an eligible list.

Municipal Union Asks For Wage Increases

Representatives of Local 812, Municipal Employees Union, met with the Mayor and Council today to discuss a possible wage increase and fringe benefits.

The delegation, headed by C. W. Shipes, president, reportedly was told any city action on wages would hinge upon approval of a proposal to increase the tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50.

Marine Dies In Auto Wreck On Turnpike

One Marine was killed and two others hurt early today when they separated the dual-lane road, their car ran off the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Bedford and then back onto the eastbound lane where it overturned. The three servicemen were thrown from the vehicle when it overturned. Trooper Barrouk said.

Victim of the accident was Norman L. King, 17, of Tiffin, Ohio, who died shortly after being admitted to Bedford County (Pa.) Memorial Hospital in Bedford.

Admitted to the same institution with minor injuries were John R. Copeland, 20, of Verona, Pa., who was identified as the driver of the car, and Jack I. Roberts, 31, of Leechburg, Pa.

The 20th anniversary of the organization of Cumberland Volunteer 164, 40&8 Society, will be celebrated tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the chateau, 133 Harrison Street.

Newly elected officers headed by Phimore Fleming, chief de jout of control, ran off the high-gare, will be installed.

REPRESENT CENTURY OF SERVICE—Chester W. Shaffer, second from left, and G. Frank Messman, second from right, are shown as they were honored at a dinner Saturday night in honor of their retirement from the B&O Railroad. Both men had completed 50 years of service. Mrs. George H. Barnard, right, secretary of the B&O Veteran Employees Association, is pinning a 50-year service pin on Messman's lapel. Also shown are Mrs. Shaffer, left, and Mrs. Messman, center. Both were on the clerical staff of the Bolt and Forge Shops here. They also received gifts.

Pantry Shelf Yields Items For This Crab Casserole

With a cupboard shelf well stocked with canned meats, condensed soups, and macaroni, noodles or spaghetti, you need never be caught unprepared by an unexpected dinner guest. For with these items on hand you can always put together a flavorful and simple-to-fix main dish.

Crab De Luxe Casserole is a good example. It uses macaroni, condensed crab meat, and canned condensed soup, and it makes as exciting and glamorous a dish as you could want to serve.

The recipe calls for tiny macaroni shells which are very attractive and thus create additional interest.

However, if you don't have macaroni shells on hand, you may substitute an equal weight of elbow macaroni, or spaghetti or noodles. The highest quality macaroni products are made from durum wheat or durum semolina and are interchangeable, weight for weight, in most recipes.

Macaroni, noodles and spaghetti solve many of your menu problems. They combine extremely well with meats, cheese, fish, eggs and vegetables. They are a low cost source of plant protein and food energy.

Buttered broccoli and enriched hard rolls will be good meal partners for Crab De Luxe Casserole.

Crab De Luxe Casserole
4 ounces small macaroni shells or bows (1½ cups)
1¼ cups crab meat (6½-ounce can)
1¼ cups condensed cream-of-mushroom soup (10½ ounce can)
Liquid drained from crab meat plus milk to make ¾ cup liquid
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup blanched almonds, sliced

1 hard-cooked egg (chopped)
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons fine, dry bread crumbs
½ tablespoon melted butter or margarine
Add 2 teaspoons salt and macaroni to 3 cups boiling water. Boil

Rain-Coat
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (AP) — Following a rash of spring rains and floods in Texas, Albuquerque Tribune Editor Dan Burrows wrote:

"There's a story going around about a fugitive from Texas who was told he had a good tan. He replied that it wasn't tan but rust."

Coffee Sponge Cake
"Strong black brewed coffee may be used in a simple sponge cake instead of the water called for. Do not use any other flavoring if the coffee is added."

Corn With Bacon
Combine whole kernel corn and ¼ cup liquid from the can or cream-style corn in saucepan. Add butter, chili powder and crumbled cooked bacon; heat.

Be Prepared
Be a wise cook. Assemble all the ingredients listed in a recipe before you start preparing the dish. Get out the utensils needed, too.

Company Vegetable
Fill small pastry shells with creamed green peas and top with strips of bright pimiento. Nice with chicken or ham.

Making a milk shake for that weight-watcher. Use nonfat dry milk solids and flavor with vanilla extract or nutmeg.

Leeks may be quartered and cooked in boiling salted water until tender. Serve with a sauce of melted butter and lemon juice.

If you can get old-fashioned leaf lard you'll find that, combined with butter, it makes excellent pastry. The leaf fat from which it is made is rendered in a kettle at a low temperature.

New Hors D'Oeuvre

Sardines, mashed and seasoned with lemon juice, make an interesting filling for the bright red cherry tomatoes which are in season now. A tasty mouthful, these tiny tomatoes should be served icy cold.

Broiling Hint

Broiling is a fast and convenient method of preparing summer meals. As a precaution, use a moderate temperature when broiling. The broiling temperature is regulated by the distance of the meat from the heat.

Make an extra sandwich when you are packing a lunchbox for Dad or one of your youngsters. Wrap the sandwich in waxed paper and refrigerate it. At noon, when you are ready for lunch, spread the top surface of the sandwich with soft butter or margarine and toast under the broiler; turn, spread other side of sandwich with soft butter and toast. Almost any filling—cheese, egg or tuna salad—takes to this sandwich treatment.

When you are preparing quick-cooking tapioca, bring it only to a boil.

The mixture will thicken as the tapioca particles swell and become transparent and it will continue to cook as it cools.

If the top crust on your pies doesn't brown the way you would like it to, try brushing the pastry with milk before it goes into the oven.

Nutmeg Corn

Combine whole kernel corn and ¼ cup liquid from the can or cream style corn in saucepan. Add butter and a dash of nutmeg; heat.

When heavy cream is whipped, it will increase two to three times in volume.

Curry Gives Extra Lift To Meat, Potato Balls

By GAYNOR MADDOX

To give meat and potato balls an extra lift, try using curry with them. This combination is especially good for a buffet supper party.

Meat and Potato Balls with Curry Sauce (4-6 servings)
One pound ground beef, 1/2 pound ground veal, 1/2 clove garlic, minced; 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1-pound can small whole potatoes.

Mix beef, veal, garlic, salt, pepper, egg, milk and bread crumbs together. Form into 12 meat balls. Melt fat in skillet, add chicken bouquet and brown meat balls. An announcement was made last week by Mrs. Grace P. Bittner, president of the Frostburg Public Library, that the library will be moved to a new location the latter part of July. Court Names Study Group

FRANKLIN — Pendleton County Court has appointed 12 men as members of a County Advisory Committee on the Equalization and Revaluation of General Property, as required by a resolution adopted at the last session of the State Legislature.

The purpose of the committee is to consult with the assessor as to methods and plans for the revaluation of general property, and to inform the citizens of the county of their progress toward revaluation.

Recent studies of property valuations throughout the state have revealed a wide variation in the ratio of appraised value to assessed value as among counties, as among classes of property and as among individual properties within the counties.

Citizens appointed to serve on the committee in Pendleton County are the following: Bethel District — V. L. Hoover, Brandwine, and George Dyer, Fort Seybert.

Circleville District — John Arbust and Isaac H. Mallow, both of Circleville.

Franklin District — J. C. Wilkins and John Harman, both of Franklin.

Mill Run District — Silas Compton and Joseph E. Sites, both of Upper Tract.

Sugar Grove District — Richard Roman, Sugar Grove, and Harry H. Judy, Meyers.

Union District — Russell Lawrence, Riverton, and Harley Bennett, Onego.

J. C. Wilkins, of Franklin, was named chairman of the committee.

The county committee will meet at least four times a year, and members serve without pay. There will be a meeting at the high school in Moorefield Friday at 10 a. m. for the purpose of explaining the purpose of the committee and the duties of members of the committees.

Invited to attend the meeting are members of the county committees from the counties of Pendleton, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Tucker, Randolph, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson, and other officials of the counties.

New Type Cement Mixture Used In Dam Construction

ROMNEY — A new type of dam construction, on the James Swisher orchard at Levels, is drawing much attention due to a new type of cement mixture known as "soil cement" being used.

The pond, constructed by the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation Service previously had a continual seepage since its construction.

Technicians from a cement firm, in consultation with Soil Conservation engineers, recommended mixing cement with the soil on the pond bottom, following the draining of the pond. The mixture was then wetted down and rolled.

A "pulvi mixer" was rented from the West Virginia State Road Commission and the sealing work was completed satisfactorily.

The pond will supply a half million gallons of water for the orchard spraying operation.

Frostburg Unit Stages Concert By B&O Group

FROSTBURG — The B&O Glee Club of Baltimore will be the second attraction to be sponsored by the Frostburg Community Programs, according to Edward P. Flanagan, president of the group.

The glee club, which consists of 100 male voices, will be presented at Compton Hall on July 13 at 8:30 p. m., and Flanagan states that membership cards will be accepted as full admission for family groups. Apparently some people do not realize that a single membership card will admit the entire family to the complete series of summer programs, Flanagan said.

It is unusual for the B&O organization to appear in a city the size of Frostburg, since most of their concerts are presented in cities the size of New York, Chicago, Boston and Baltimore.

It is necessary that the glee club accept only weekend engagements, as they are all employees of the railroad, and such a large group could not possibly be spared from their regular jobs at any other time.

Blood Donor Appeal Made

FROSTBURG — The Johnstown Regional Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the American Legion home tomorrow to receive blood from donors. Time of the visit is from noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, general chairman of the blood bank program for the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter, stated that "during April, May and June, the blood donated failed to meet the demands of Memorial, Sacred Heart and Miners hospitals."

"Due to the seasonal increase in automobile accidents in the summer months, the records show that more blood is required by the hospitals at the season," Mrs. Beneman stated.

Frostburg failed to meet its quota of 30 pints of blood in April, partly due to the number of donors who were turned down due to having colds, according to Mrs. William J. Jenkins, chairman of the Frostburg program.

Mrs. John Ives and the members of her committee will endeavor to call all regular donors today and tomorrow, urging them to donate blood tomorrow.

Rec Unit To Meet

FROSTBURG — Donald Miller, president of the East End Playground, announces a meeting of the association will be held on the playground at 8:00 p. m. tomorrow. Following the business meeting, a movie will be shown and refreshments served.

Home Purchased

FROSTBURG — Baylies U. Smith, secretary of Central YM, CA, Cumberland, has purchased the home at 85 Broadway, formerly occupied by James G. Hitchens, Smith, his wife and two children will occupy their new home today.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thirty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAM, the amazing new laxative discovery, possesses COLONAM's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAM's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAM is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAM neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAM exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAM, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thirty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAM, the amazing new laxative discovery, possesses COLONAM's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAM's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAM is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAM neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAM exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAM, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Court Names Study Group

FRANKLIN — Pendleton County Court has appointed 12 men as members of a County Advisory Committee on the Equalization and Revaluation of General Property, as required by a resolution adopted at the last session of the State Legislature.

The purpose of the committee is to consult with the assessor as to methods and plans for the revaluation of general property, and to inform the citizens of the county of their progress toward revaluation.

Recent studies of property valuations throughout the state have revealed a wide variation in the ratio of appraised value to assessed value as among counties, as among classes of property and as among individual properties within the counties.

Citizens appointed to serve on the committee in Pendleton County are the following: Bethel District — V. L. Hoover, Brandwine, and George Dyer, Fort Seybert.

Circleville District — John Arbust and Isaac H. Mallow, both of Circleville.

Franklin District — J. C. Wilkins and John Harman, both of Franklin.

Mill Run District — Silas Compton and Joseph E. Sites, both of Upper Tract.

Sugar Grove District — Richard Roman, Sugar Grove, and Harry H. Judy, Meyers.

Union District — Russell Lawrence, Riverton, and Harley Bennett, Onego.

J. C. Wilkins, of Franklin, was named chairman of the committee.

The county committee will meet at least four times a year, and members serve without pay. There will be a meeting at the high school in Moorefield Friday at 10 a. m. for the purpose of explaining the purpose of the committee and the duties of members of the committees.

Invited to attend the meeting are members of the county committees from the counties of Pendleton, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Tucker, Randolph, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson, and other officials of the counties.

New Type Cement Mixture Used In Dam Construction

ROMNEY — A new type of dam construction, on the James Swisher orchard at Levels, is drawing much attention due to a new type of cement mixture known as "soil cement" being used.

The pond, constructed by the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation Service previously had a continual seepage since its construction.

Technicians from a cement firm, in consultation with Soil Conservation engineers, recommended mixing cement with the soil on the pond bottom, following the draining of the pond. The mixture was then wetted down and rolled.

A "pulvi mixer" was rented from the West Virginia State Road Commission and the sealing work was completed satisfactorily.

The pond will supply a half million gallons of water for the orchard spraying operation.

Frostburg Unit Stages Concert By B&O Group

FROSTBURG — The B&O Glee Club of Baltimore will be the second attraction to be sponsored by the Frostburg Community Programs, according to Edward P. Flanagan, president of the group.

The glee club, which consists of 100 male voices, will be presented at Compton Hall on July 13 at 8:30 p. m., and Flanagan states that membership cards will be accepted as full admission for family groups. Apparently some people do not realize that a single membership card will admit the entire family to the complete series of summer programs, Flanagan said.

It is unusual for the B&O organization to appear in a city the size of Frostburg, since most of their concerts are presented in cities the size of New York, Chicago, Boston and Baltimore.

It is necessary that the glee club accept only weekend engagements, as they are all employees of the railroad, and such a large group could not possibly be spared from their regular jobs at any other time.

Blood Donor Appeal Made

FROSTBURG — The Johnstown Regional Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the American Legion home tomorrow to receive blood from donors. Time of the visit is from noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, general chairman of the blood bank program for the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter, stated that "during April, May and June, the blood donated failed to meet the demands of Memorial, Sacred Heart and Miners hospitals."

"Due to the seasonal increase in automobile accidents in the summer months, the records show that more blood is required by the hospitals at the season," Mrs. Beneman stated.

Frostburg failed to meet its quota of 30 pints of blood in April, partly due to the number of donors who were turned down due to having colds, according to Mrs. William J. Jenkins, chairman of the Frostburg program.

Mrs. John Ives and the members of her committee will endeavor to call all regular donors today and tomorrow, urging them to donate blood tomorrow.

Rec Unit To Meet

FROSTBURG — Donald Miller, president of the East End Playground, announces a meeting of the association will be held on the playground at 8:00 p. m. tomorrow. Following the business meeting, a movie will be shown and refreshments served.

Home Purchased

FROSTBURG — Baylies U. Smith, secretary of Central YM, CA, Cumberland, has purchased the home at 85 Broadway, formerly occupied by James G. Hitchens, Smith, his wife and two children will occupy their new home today.

Bible School Classes End

PAW PAW — The cooperative daily vacation Bible school of Sulphur Springs Methodist Church, Woodrow Union Church and Paw Paw Methodist Church held graduation exercises Thursday evening in the Paw Paw Elementary School auditorium.

Diplomas were presented to 115 children and recognition was given to the 20 staff members of the school. The school was under the direction of Rev. Richard L. Hamilton, pastor of the Sulphur Springs Church, with Mrs. W. D. Crabtree of the Sulphur Springs Church, with Mrs. W. Gordon, Misses Judith Hockman, Barbara Robertson, Janet Platt, Mary Ann Platt and Grace Anna Hook assisting.

The Kindergarten Department was under the direction of Mrs. W. D. Crabtree of the Sulphur Springs Church, with Mrs. W. Gordon, Misses Judith Hockman, Barbara Robertson, Janet Platt, Mary Ann Platt and Grace Anna Hook assisting.

The Primary Department was under the joint direction of Mrs. Dorothy Cross of Woodrow Church and Mrs. Claude Jamison of the Paw Paw Church, assisted by Mrs. Rodney Miller, Misses Dorothy Platt and Patricia Slider.

The Junior Department, under direction of Mrs. Margaret Bohrer of the Woodrow Church, assisted by Misses Sara Kay, Youngblood and Sue Gordon, presented several musical specialties.

The Intermediate Department was under the guidance of Rev. Mr. Hamilton, who was assisted by Mrs. Boyd Gordon, Ralph Shambaugh, Misses Mary Largent, Lou Sharp, Lillian Siler, and Louise Judy. This group presented a pageant, "A Decision of Youth." Miss Martha Householder was narrator.

Following a program by the students, the parents were invited to visit the rooms and examine the displays of handiwork prepared by the children. The kindergarten display featured small books of Bible stories prepared by the children. The primary group had prepared "peep boxes" wherein Biblical stories were depicted in three-dimensions. The junior group had prepared several displays of the flags of the world and scrolls of Bible verses that centered on the theme of knowing our neighbors regardless of race, color or creed. The intermediate department displayed plaster-of-paris plaques which they had molded and painted.

The Primary, Junior and Intermediate departments held a picnic Friday at the Bethel picnic grounds where swimming, softball and badminton were played. A lunch was prepared by the Intermediate class.

The instructors of the school will meet at Paw Paw Methodist Church on Tuesday, July 9, at 7:30 p. m. to evaluate this year's school and plan for instructional meetings for next year's school.

Large Snake Killed Along South Branch

ROMNEY — Conservation Officer S. A. Saville reports killing a large copperhead snake along the South Branch River, approximately three miles north of Romney, near the Vance farm.

The reptile was 37 inches in length and was "as thick as a man's wrist," according to the officer. Copperheads seldom attain such size, he said, and this is one of the largest killed here in recent years.

Jack Fisher, the husky graduate of Frostburg's Little League, may be pitching before too long for the Baltimore Orioles.

TAPPING ON THE PORT
by J. Super Kegg

Jack Fisher, the husky graduate of Frostburg's Little League, may be pitching before too long for the Baltimore Orioles.

Fisher finished his brilliant career at Richmond in a blaze of glory, posting a 7-0 record as a senior which included a sensational earned-run average of 0.29. He allowed only 14 hits in 48 innings, struck out 80 and walked but 13.

Jack was named as Georgia's outstanding schoolboy pitcher for 1957 and was sought by all 16 major league clubs.

At Knoxville, he will join a mound staff that includes Cumberland's Jim Clingan, former Allegheny High ace, and third baseman-outfielder Leo Burke, onetime Hagerstown High great. John Lancaster, publicity director for the Orioles, said this morning that Clingan is pitching good ball for the Tennessee team, although he didn't know his worst record.

The Orioles receive daily reports on the progress of their farm clubs. In charge of this department is Jim McLaughlin, farm director, who was not in the Orioles office at the time Lancaster revealed the Fisher signing.

Fisher, according to Lancaster, will probably report to the Knoxville club this week.

A Tip of the Hat To Jean

As Cumberland's "first lady" of the golf links, Mrs. G. William Bibby wins her share of honors, but her record would be even more imposing if she didn't have a love for rugged competition.

Jean picks no soft touches. She enters tough amateur tournaments in the East during the summer and frequently tries her hand on the Florida circuit in the winter.

Still, there is one honor that has eluded her—the championship of the women's invitation held at the Cumberland Country Club, her home course. Mrs. Bibby was runner-up this year and has been in contention in just about all of the seven local tournaments. But if she ever comes close to matching her best efforts at the Carroll Boggs 18-hole layout, opponents will have to shoot super-duper golf to defeat her.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Bibby broke her own course record when she blazed the Christie Road fairways in 72 strokes. That is generally considered women's par, although the invitation of last week had 73 as par.

No one, not even Mrs. Maurice Glick, the perennial Baltimore City champion, threatened Jean's course record during the 36-hole medal event of last Thursday and Friday.

Actually, Mrs. Glick, who won the tourney, hadn't planned on coming to Cumberland. She had her mind made up for her at the last minute by Mrs. Bibby last Monday when both took part in a pro-am tournament at Hagerstown.

The same has been true of other topnotchers who have appeared here. Because of the many connections she has made through her tournament golf, Mrs. Bibby serves as somewhat of a magnate in getting first-rate players here. Many of them come as a personal favor to Jean and they come back year after year because they like the course and the hospitable treatment that is accorded them.

The tournament seems to get better every year and most of the credit belongs to Jean Bibby, the genial gal behind the scenes.

Yankees Reaping Harvest From 'Farm Team'

Defeat A's 11 Straight Times, Take League Lead

By FRED DE LUCA
NEW YORK—(INS)—The Kansas City A's say they aren't a "farm team" of the New York Yankees but when they play, it's the Yanks who reap the harvest. Kansas City, which had been the home of a Yankee American Association farm, made the big leagues when the Philadelphia A's moved there for the 1955 season.

But the Yanks treated Kansas City like it still was a minor league affiliate. The Bronx Bombers captured the 1955 season series between the two teams, 15 to 7, and upped it to 18-and-4 in 1956.

This year, "farming" is so good for Casey Stengel that it may provide the margin that will bring another pennant to the Bronx.

Yanks Win All 11
Despite two big 1957 trades between the teams that were supposed to strengthen the A's, the Yanks have won all 11 games they have played. That means the Yanks have won 41 of 55 with K.C. for an .800 victory percentage.

Two ex-Yankees, Ralph Terry and Jack Urban, were the losing K.C. hurlers yesterday as the Bombers won a doubleheader, 2 to 1 and 5 to 1. The double win, coupled with a split between the Chicago White Sox and Washington, gave the Yanks a one-game American League lead.

After Gil McDougall broke up Terry's bid for a no-hitter with an eighth-inning double, Joe Collins walked and Harry Simpson, a former K.C. star, doubled home both runners to give Tom Sturdivant the victory.

Don Larsen's four-hit hurling in the nightcap for New York was backed up by a Yogi Berra homer. The A's now have lost 11 in a row.

The White Sox rallied for four runs in the ninth to win the opener, 7 to 6, and then overcame a six-run deficit in the afterpiece to lose, 11 to 9, when Roy Sievers hit a tie-breaking homer for the Senators.

Loes Adds Lustre
Billy Loes added more lustre to his bid for 1957 comeback honors by winning his ninth as Baltimore thumped Cleveland, 12 to 3. A grand slam by Jackie Jensen and Ted Williams' three-run homer sparked Boston to a 10-to-3 win over Detroit. It was the Red Sox' 11th win in the last 13 games.

Timely hitting by Hank Aaron, Felix Mantilla and Ed Mathews gave National League-leading Milwaukee 7-to-4 and 6-to-5 wins over Pittsburgh. With Brooks Lawrence starting and relieving, Cincinnati swept Philadelphia, 6 to 1 and 6 to 2, to stay a half-game behind the Braves.

Ruben Gomez posted his tenth win as New York topped St. Louis, 5 to 3, but then Lindy McDaniel cooled off the Giants, 7 to 1. The Chicago Cubs topped Brooklyn, 3 to 2, in 11 innings before the Dodgers and Danny McDevitt won, 5 to 1. The two clubs set a pair of major league strikeout records.

After Milt Rollins, Sievers, and Julio Becquer homered in the third for Washington, Larry Doby and Bubba Phillips retaliated in the fourth. It was Doby's triple that scored the winning run in the ninth. Sievers' second-game homer was his 18th and came off Dixie Howell to give Chuck Stobbs his second win in 15 decisions. Doby homered again for Chicago.

Aaron Leads in Homers
Loes permitted four hits and struck out nine as the Orioles pounded Bob Lemon for ten of their 14 hits. The win enabled the Birds to take a series from the Indians for the first time since the Orioles returned to the majors in 1954.

The heavy hitting by Jensen and Williams gave Willard Nixon the win over Paul Foytack. Aaron homered in each game to raise his total to 23, highest in either league. Mantilla singled home two runs that broke the players here. Many of them came as a personal favor to Jean and they come back year after year because they like the course and the hospitable treatment that is accorded them.

The tournament seems to get better every year and most of the credit belongs to Jean Bibby, the genial gal behind the scenes.

Hyndman Adds All-Stars To List Of Victims, 6 To 3

Air-tight relief work, solid hitting and great defensive work gave the Hyndman Merchants a 6-3 victory over the Pen-Mar All Stars yesterday at Mt. Savage.

Carl May, in relief of starter Merle Kirchner quieted the bats of the Stars after the fourth inning, allowing only five hits and one run in the last six frames to chalk up the win. He fanned three and walked one.

Merchants Score Early
Hyndman, with a 13-1 record to lead the league, scored early with a run in the second, three in the third and two in the fourth. The Stars kayoed Kirchner in the fourth and got their final tally in the sixth.

Ray Morganti collected three singles for a perfect day at bat for Hyndman while manager Gene Stair and Carl Leydig garnered two safeties each. A double by Bob Bryant and a triple by "Pete" Deremer were the game's only extra base wallops.

George Thomas of Barrelville had two safeties.

John Keller, Hyndman first baseman, turned in two unassisted double plays and also figured in another twin-killing started by second-baseman Deremer.

Other fielding gems were Gene Stair's backhand stab of a line drive from Kenny Johnson's bat in the fifth inning and Cliff Clites' one-handed running catch of Dwight Morris' bid for an extra base hit in the sixth frame.

Rain interrupted play for 10 minutes in the second inning.

Twenty-Seven Play
Twenty-two players of seven clubs, Wellersburg, Centerville, Zihlman, Mt. Savage, Grantsville, Flintstone and Barrelville represented the All-Stars, including four pitchers, Jim McGregor, who was charged with the loss, Harry Oliver, Ralph Dickel and Bill Haberlein. Oliver yielded six of Hyndman's 10 blows.

Loes Toasted By Baltimore After No. 9

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE, Md. — Broadway Billy Loes has become an ardent Baltimore Oriole fan. The feeling is mutual.

Billy Loes, the New York Yankees pitcher, was the toast of Baltimore after pitching his seventh straight ninth victory of the season yesterday for the Orioles against Cleveland, 12-3. However, Loes refused to get excited about himself although a year ago the Brooklyn Dodgers felt he was through with a sore arm at the age of 27 and sold him for $20,000 to the Orioles.

Can Field And Hit

"Anybody can pitch with this ball club behind them and in this big park," he claimed. "They make the runs and the fielding gems. They got a real defense and they can score."

"They" sure do for Billy. The Orioles made as high as 12 runs only once before this season. That was with Loes on the mound, too.

"What about your nine strikeouts?" Billy was asked. "That's your high for the year."

"Strikeouts, you don't need here, Loes said. "A pitcher can take a chance on letting the batter hit the ball and it will be caught."

Cleveland proved him wrong only four times yesterday with hits.

"How would you like to be back in Brooklyn?" kidded a fellow Oriole.

Loes grunted and snorted at the thought.

"They couldn't score and every fly ball hit in that Brooklyn park against you was a homer," Loes allowed.

Billy wouldn't even hold still for talk about his possibilities of being picked as an American League all-star pitcher by Manager Casey Stengel.

"Manager Paul Richards of Baltimore is my boss and I'll do what he wants," Billy belittled.

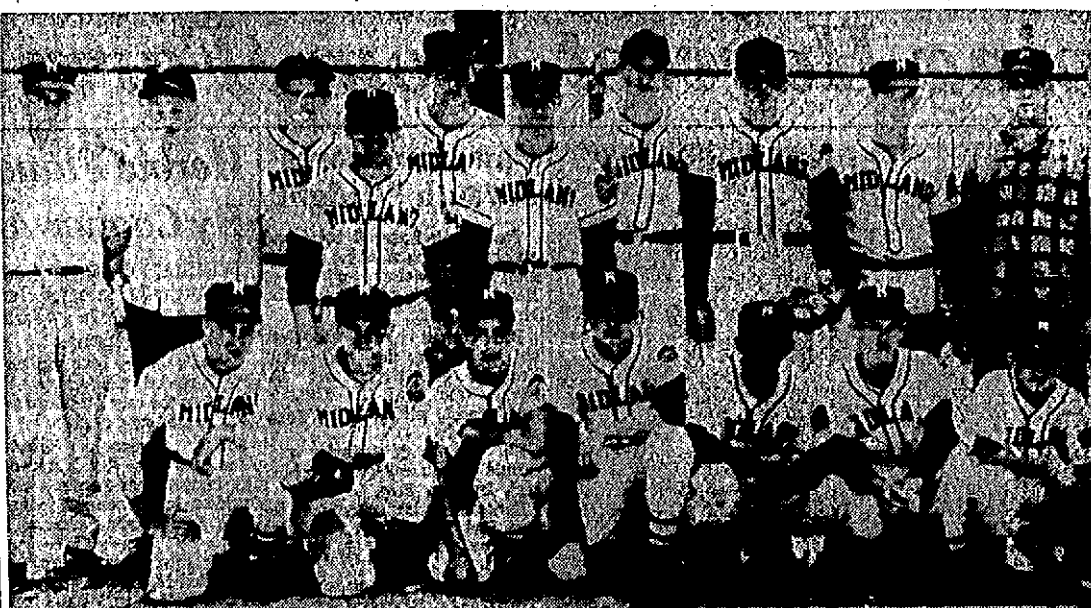

Completes Six Games

Harry Brecheen, the Baltimore pitching coach, interjected however he would be very disappointed if Loes or George Zuverink, Oriole relief ace, wasn't chosen for the July 9 classic.

Loes has completed six of the 11 games he started and finished three others in relief. He's lost only three times.

The Orioles haven't been performing well only for Loes by a long shot. Their three out of four from Cleveland was the first series won by Baltimore from the Indians since it joined the American League in 1954. It raised the Oriole victories in the month since Memorial Day to 20 against 11 losses.

Only the New York Yankees fared better than Baltimore during the month of June, with the same number of triumphs and one less loss. The two teams meet tonight and tomorrow. The Orioles started to get hot the last time they met by taking three out of four from the Yankees.

OFF TO GOOD START—Midland Post got away to a game lead in the best-of-seven series with Fort Cumberland to determine the District 1 American Legion junior baseball winner by taking Saturday's opener, 9-3. Phillies Given 'Double Dose' Of Lawrence

By International News Service
Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, who once almost died from an ulcer, now is giving the rest of the National League fits.

The six-foot, 200-pound right-hander ace of the Cincinnati Redlegs pitched a six-hitter to beat Philadelphia, 5 to 1, in the first game of a doubleheader yesterday and chalk up his ninth victory.

But the Phils hadn't seen the last of Lawrence. When the Quakers loaded the bases in the ninth inning of the nightcap and had the tying run at bat with two out, Lawrence was brought in from the bullpen.

The 32-year-old hurler quickly made Harry Anderson pop out to nail down the Cincinnati win.

Things weren't always so happy for the native of Springfield, O.

Shortly after he won 15 games for St. Louis in 1954 in his first major league season, Lawrence collapsed from a bleeding ulcer.

He was hospitalized for ten days and needed eight transfusions.

"The doctor told me," said Lawrence later, "that if they had waited a half-hour longer to bring me to the hospital it would have been too late."

His strength sapped, Lawrence was sent back to the minors in 1955 and traded by St. Louis to Cincinnati just before the 1956 season. He won 19 last year with the Redlegs and aims to make it 20 in 1957.

Gene Andrews Shoots 72 In British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., former U. S. Public Links golf champion, shot a fine 72, approximately par, over the St. Andrews Old Course today in the first qualifying round for the British Open Golf Championship.

Andrews, a 43-year-old insurance salesman, was the first American of the tee. After a shaky start, he shot a round of 38-34-72, the best score among the first 20 finishers.

Angel Angelini of Italy, shot 37-33-70 over the old course and took the qualifying lead. Peter Thomson of Australia, winner for the past three years, had 38-35-71 on the old course.

At Jamison, Quantico, Va., professional, shot 37-38-75 over the 6,526-yard, par 36-35-71 new course. He will play his second round on the old course tomorrow.

The two qualifying rounds over the old and new courses at St. Andrews today will reduce the starting field of about 300 to a maximum of 100 for the 72-hole tournament proper starting Wednesday.

The St. Andrews Old Course has no official par, but the approximate standard generally used is 63-66-72.

Terry Dream Turned Into 'Nightmare'

NEW YORK (AP)—If he lives to be 100, young Ralph Terry will never forget the heart ache of a Sunday afternoon in June 1957 at Yankee Stadium.

For 7-13 innings, the tall lean young man from the open spaces of Chelsea, Okla., had wound the world champion New York Yankees around his little finger. Only five more outs and he would have stuffed a no-hitter down the throats of the rich Yanks who traded him away to Kansas City only two weeks ago.

Fly Caught By Wind

Back at Yankee Stadium for the first time since the trade, Terry's Kansas City A's held a 1-0 lead going into the last of the eighth in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader. No hits for the Yanks and only one base runner—Mickey Mantle way back in the first inning.

Then it happened. With one out Gil McDougald hit a long fly into left center that was caught by the wind and fell between Bob Marlyn and Woody Held, both ex-Yankees, as they raced after it. The double by McDougald, a walk to pinch hitter Joe Collins and a smashing double to right by pinch hitter Harry Simpson, the former Kansas City star, turned no hit dreams into a 2-1 defeat.

Simpson Hits High Curve

McDougald hit a 3-1 fast ball, said the handsome brown-haired rookie in the clubhouse. "At first I thought it was going to be caught but the wind must have taken it. I tried to waste one to Simpson and he hit a high curve."

At the stadium it is impossible for anybody to be unaware of a no-hitter. The giant scoreboard in center and the two auxiliary boards in left and right carry the running totals.

"Along about the sixth I started to figure a little," said Terry. "After all, it is possible to allow no hits over three innings."

Terry said he felt "a little keyed up" pitching against his old club but felt "at home" on the pitching mound.

After all I pitched against these fellows in squad games during spring training," he said.

Manager Lou Boudreau took the less harder than the young man. He sat glumly in his private office asking himself "How can you lose a game like that?"

UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON
Written for NEA Service
QUESTION: A grounder is hit down the line. It heads at the runner. He jumps and straddles the ball. This causes the third baseman to lose the ball, which goes through. If the runner hadn't jumped, the third baseman might have fielded the ball. Was this interference?—George Caras.

Answer: It is a judgment call. If the runner was trying only to keep from being hit, it would go as a hit. But if the umpire decided it was deliberate interference, he could call the runner out.

Q. With men on second and third bases and the score tied in the last of the ninth, the batter bounces the ball into the stands. How is this scored?—Steven Ferguson.

A. One run wins, so the man on third base scores and the batter is credited with a single and a run-batted-in.

QUESTION: A runner on first base attempts to steal second. The catcher's throw hits the umpire at second base. What happens?—Oscar Stigletz.

Answer: The ball is in play.

Kelly Appeal On Wheeling Buy Awaited

WHEELING, W. Va., (AP)—Council for Philadelphia millionaire John B. Kelly said he would know definitely today whether an appeal would be filed from a U.S. District Court decision here confirming sale of the Wheeling Downs race track.

Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins ruled last Friday that Hazel Park Racing Assn. of Detroit should be permitted to purchase the track for $1,780,000, the high bid received during a public auction procedure.

The upset bid by the Detroit group had come a week earlier. On June 12, the Kelly interests had submitted the only legitimate bid until then—one of 1 1/2 million dollars—when an auction was conducted at the half-mile horse racing plant.

Appeals from Judge Watkins' ruling must be filed within 20 days with the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, with notices of the petitions also required for entry with the district court here.

Westley Tinker, local attorney for the Kelly interests, was attempting to contact Kelly over the weekend, and said he would know definitely today whether the Philadelphia contractor planned to lodge an appeal.

Meanwhile, distribution of the $1,780,000 paid to the government for the track probably will be withheld until it is learned whether any appeals are to be entered.

The government will get 60 percent of the sale price as part payment of a 3.3 million-dollar income tax judgment it has obtained against William G. Lias, owner of the racing property for 12 years.

Wheeling Downs and other Lias holdings have been in federal receivership since 1952, pending outcome of the complicated tax case. Judge Watkins ordered the track sold at public auction.

The remaining 40 percent of the sale proceeds will go to Lias' wife and the couple's two children as minority stockholders in Wheeling Downs.

Help By Frick Not Needed For Musial All-Star Berth

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan The Man Musial of St. Louis didn't need an assist from commissioner Ford Frick to gain his customary spot on the National League All-Star team, it developed today.

Only three days ago, Frick tossed Cincinnati's George Crowe, Gus Bell and Wally Post off the team and replaced them with Musial, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron after he decided that Cincinnati fandom was stuffing the ballot box.

As things turned out, Stan The Man pulled in 353,792 votes for first base compared to 272,555 for Crowe even after the last-minute deluge of Redleg votes.

Mays, Aaron Need Help
Mays and Aaron needed the commissioner's aid, though. In the battle for center field, Bell drew 471,235 votes to 302,573 for the New York Giant flycatcher.

But by executive edict, it will be Mays in center field and Aaron in right field when the National League takes the field in St. Louis on July 9. Frick made no comment in announcing the starting team yesterday.

Nor did he have any answer to the Redleg proposal that Bell Crowe and Post be made "honorary" members of the team so they can collect the gift that goes

Fort Hill 5 2 Hercules 3 3
LaVale 4 3 Mountain Top 2 2

Hercules and LaVale topped wins in Western Maryland League rifle matches yesterday evening at the Morningside Drive and Oakland ranges.

Firing on the local grounds, Hercules netched a first victory in three tries against league leading Fort Hill, 1585-90X to 1584-91X. Jim Grosh's 397-25X tally over the Dewar International course headed the winners. High total for the beaten Fort Hill small-boremen was 399-25X turned in by Leq. Leasure.

LaVale made short work of an underpowered Mountain Top effort at Oakland, 1582-90X to 1191-81X. Jack Fulk's 400-28X possible powered the LaVale gunners, while a 400-31X possible by Alex Harvey led the shorthanded Mountain Top crew. Summary:

Frances Farmer Fails To Get Just Portrayal

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (JNS)—Tonight's CBS Radio, "Rusty Draper Show," almost didn't go on. The Rusty Draper Show was asked to stand by for an extra 30 minutes in case temperamental Frances Farmer's brief appearance on Ed Sullivan's Show didn't do justice to that lady's comeback. She wasn't dressed, presented not treated like a returning star.

Sammy Davis, who got up there imitating everyone in sight, really has arrived: The Kirby Stone Quartet imitates him.

Steve Allen turned over his whole show to Bob Hope as a full hour commercial for Bob's new "Beau James" movie.

Dean Martin and Peggy Lee probably will alternate Saturday nights on NBC-TV.

Goodyear Playhouse's "The Legend" was an exceptionally well-written, even better acted, beautifully directed (by Fielder Cook, who brought "Patterns" to TV) and wonderfully sustained hour of drama.

Melvin Douglas was a masterful tycoon caught in his own plot to have his son succeed to his executive suite; Walter Mathau was solidly, almost cruelly realistic at the confident man the job more properly fitted; Philip Abbott was the son who did not quite measure up to his father's image, forming that framework of indecisiveness with more craftsmanship than the surface of the role might have seemed to need.

The author was Stephen Gethers, who fashioned a fine sus-

Officer Kills Rattlesnake

City Police Officer Charles W. Thompson killed a 38-inch rattlesnake with a revolver yesterday near Springfield.

Officer Thompson said he was visiting a camp below Millersburg Mill along the South Branch and while traveling along the highway in the car, spotted the snake crawling near the berm.

He got out of the car and took shots at the reptile hitting it near the mid-section and also in the neck. It measured six inches in circumference and had six rattles and a button. He is keeping the rattles as a souvenir.

Next season, to be called "Crescendo," was Rex Harrison, who can't sing a lick.

Ted Mack's Amateur Hour switches to NBC-TV tonight.

Distribution Squeeze Works

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The game was duplicate and South decided to put in a light take-out double against his vulnerable opponents.

five clubs by following with his lowest. That trick was ruffed in dummy and a low heart led. East played the king and South won.

South had a mighty good count on the East hand by this time and reasoned that he had started with 4-4-1 distribution. This left West with only two cards each in diamonds and spades and South promptly worked out a nice squeeze against East to produce five odd and a top score.

All he did was to trump his last club and lead a low diamond from dummy.

West won with the queen and returned the suit; as good a play as any. South won in dummy and drew trumps. He discarded a diamond and a spade from dummy and sure enough the squeeze had operated. East had no way to guard both spades and diamonds. He chose to unguard the spade. Declarer might miscount that suit but he couldn't miscount diamonds.

South did not miscount. He made the last five tricks with the ace-king of diamonds and the king-ace and a small spade.

Old Frigate Threatened

BALTIMORE, Md. — The USS Constellation, 153-year-old frigate which has had trouble staying afloat because of the condition of her hull, faced a new danger over the weekend.

They thought the nation's oldest fighting ship might be damaged when a four-alarm fire broke out Saturday night on Baltimore's Pier 1 at Pratt and Market Sts.

The fire was only 300 feet from the Constellation but the ship was wet down and escaped without a scorch. The fire caused an estimated $150,000 damage to a storage building of Baley's Express Co., a trucking firm.

Christman had been returned here from California after being apprehended by FBI agents on a pickup sent out by local authorities. Judge Harris described him as "morally irresponsible" when he passed sentence on him last Saturday.

Here the world's largest extraction plant and hydrodesulfurizers remove impurities as no other U.S. refinery can—remove them in the refinery, not in your car's engine. Electronic “brains” maintain absolute uniformity—and can keep the entire gasoline output at 100 OCTANE PLUS! Try your next tankful from this all-new refinery. Your nearest “Flying A” station is where you get THE NEW “FLYING A” SUPER EXTRA, 100 OCTANE PLUS... THE PUREST, MOST POWERFUL PREMIUM GASOLINE EVER REFINED, AND AT 2¢ PER GALLON LESS THAN COMPETITORS' PRICES! For cars with lower octane requirements, try new high-power, longer-mileage “Flying A” regular!
